Soviets Orbit New Satellite

Cosmos III To Relay Space Information

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union put another scientific satellite into orbit around the earth today as America's Ranger 4 sped through space toward the moon.

It was the first time the two powers had launched space vehicles so close to one another in time.

The Russians said their newest Sputnik, Cosmos III, carried scientific instruments to continue the Soviet program of outer space exploration and a multichannel radio telemetric system to relay information back to earth.

The announcement by the Soviet news agency, Tass, gave no indication that there was a man aboard. Presumably the satellite was unmanned.

"The radio telemetric information received from the satellite shows that the instruments are functioning normally," Tass said.

Cosmos III was the third Soviet satellite to be launched since March 16 after a long period of Soviet inactivity in space. Cosmos I was launched on March 16 and Cosmos II on April 6.

Announced aims of the new Soviet program of space research include investigation of radiation belts and meteorites around the earth and the dangers they may hold for space travelers.

Tass said first estimates showed Cosmos III was close to its planned course and orbiting the globe every 93.8 minutes. It said the orbit's inclination to the plane of the equator was 48 degrees.

Today's session of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Union's parliament, recessed early so the delegates could hear the announcement of the new sputnik.

News of the American moon shot was withheld in Moscow until after the dramatic break in Soviet radio programs to announce the launching of the Russian satellite.

Forty minutes later Tass told of the American shot in a 50-word dispatch from New York.

Dixiecrat Fire Is Poured on Election Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats attacked the Kennedy administration's literacy test bill as unconstitutional today as the Senate braced itself for a platoon-style filibuster.

Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., directing three teams ready for rotation in a talk marathon, said in a statement the bill attempts to give the federal government authority denied it by the Supreme Court as recently as 1959.

Hill cited a decision in which the court upheld North Carolina's literacy test for voters with the statement that his involved "the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it."

Twenty-one states have tests of this nature which supporters of the administration measure contend have been used to prevent Negroes from voting.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has given notice he will move to attach the bill to a minor measure now pending before the Senate. The bill would substitute for state literacy tests a provision under which completion of a sixth-grade education would qualify voters to cast ballots in federal elections.

Mansfield's move is certain to touch off a filibuster which may run 10 days before he and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois seek to invoke the Senate's cloture rule to limit debate.

Sky Diver Is Bruised By Partly-Opened Chute

GOODWOOD, England (AP)—Tony Miller hurtled 5,000 feet to earth Monday with a parachute that only partly opened. He escaped with a dislocated shoulder.

His rigging lines crossed after a delayed-opening drop in the national sky diving championships. He hit the ground making about 30 feet a second, twice the normal landing speed.

"The ground was about twice as hard as usual too," said Miller, 24.

Missile Defense Data Sought in Nuclear Testing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first explosions in a new series of U.S. nuclear tests probably will involve research devices intended to yield data on electromagnetic and other effects bearing on defense against missiles.

Later in the two-to-three-month series in the Pacific will come proof tests of full nuclear weapons—including all those in the U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile arsenal and submarine-launched Polaris rockets.

Informed authorities said today this is the likely schedule when President Kennedy signals the test go-ahead, maybe within the next few days.

Perhaps three or more of the tests will be at high altitudes ranging from about 30 miles to several hundred miles.

The biggest blast is expected to equal that of about 10 million tons of TNT—far below the 58 megatoner the Russians are said to have detonated in their test series last fall.

Some of the test devices may be fired to high altitudes by missiles. Others will be placed on stands and still others carried into the sky by balloons.

Instruments placed at vantage points throughout the test area around Christmas and Johnston Islands will monitor the effects of these blasts. Among other methods, specially instrumented rockets will be sent up to gauge the fireballs and radiation.

The experts will chart the explosive yield of the devices, the pressures they create, the radiation they release, relationship of damage to distance from the blasts, effects of heat on various materials such as steel and concrete, impact on underground structures such as missile launching bases—these and many more.

The result will be studied and analyzed for months. From them scientists hope to gain knowledge which can translate into new and improved weapons and into missile defenses.

Among the effects to be watched most closely is the impact of electromagnetic emissions from nuclear blasts on radar and radio communications. Conceivably an enemy nuclear explosion could cripple the vital radar and communications of a U.S. antimissile system, thus rendering it ineffective against follow-up missiles.

There also is the possibility that the explosion of a U.S. anti-missile warhead might black out the ground radar of its own system.

Berlin Parley Is Unhurried

Rusk, Dobrynin OK Talks in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin are setting an unhurried pace in their talks on Berlin.

They aren't expected to begin probing at the heart of the dispute until after Rusk returns from a round-the-world trip about mid-May.

The two diplomats met Monday—one week after their first conference—and the only reported result of the 50-minute session was Soviet acceptance of Rusk's suggestion that the new round of exploratory talks on Berlin be conducted here.

U.S. officials would not speculate on the reasons of the Kremlin's apparent satisfaction with going slow on Berlin. One possible explanation is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is pleased with reported U.S. proposals aimed at breaking the Berlin deadlock such as a declaration of non-aggression between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations and the Communist Warsaw Pact members.

Monday's meeting was primarily procedural, State Department officials said. Dobrynin, they reported, did not bring a message, nor did he receive any from Rusk.

The atmosphere was described as relaxed.

But, authoritative sources stressed, no new ground was broken either. It is most unlikely, they said, that Dobrynin would call on Rusk again this week, and the secretary is scheduled to leave Sunday for conferences in England, Greece, Turkey and New Zealand. He is due back about May 12.

U.S. officials indicated that the timetable for the Berlin talks may be affected by two events this week. The U.S. nuclear tests tentatively scheduled to start in the Pacific and a major policy speech by Khrushchev before the Supreme Soviet.

Collegians Saved from Cave After 3-Day Ordeal in Mud

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—A three-day ordeal without food and water ended happily for three collegiate explorers who carved a narrow perch between themselves and eternity inside a muddy cave.

The three—two Eagle Explorer Scouts and a novice—were plucked safe, sound and soggy from a mud bank in the Lookout Mountain cave late Monday—the end of an all-out search begun 36 hours earlier. Fraternity brothers found them in a spot experts had overlooked.

"They're safe!" shrieked their parents when word that the lads were found reached the cave's mouth. More than 150 rescue workers who had toiled in the search bowed their heads in prayer as the famished boys gulped their first hot meal since Friday night.

The three are James Mason, 21; Bill Bartee, 20, both of Atlanta, and Martin Huddleston, 19, of Ormond Beach, Fla. They had told friends they planned to explore the cave over the Easter weekend. They were reported missing when they did not return home as planned Saturday midnight.

Mason and Bartee, who grew up together, are experienced cave explorers. It was Huddleston's first trip underground. "I guess

3 Youngsters Killed, 6 Hurt In Cincy Crash

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two teenagers and a 12-year-old girl were killed late Monday night as the automobile in which they were riding at high speed went out of control and broke in two after crashing into an iron utility pole.

Six other youths in the car were injured critically.

The accident occurred on the Norwood lateral leading into the Millcreek Expressway.

Police listed the dead as Reggie Garrett, 15, and Georgia Binford, 12, both girls, and Gerald Richardson, 15. All the victims and the injured are from Cincinnati.

Four of the injured were hospitalized. They are Linda Garrett, 12, in critical condition with head injuries; Eugene Hill, 17, driver of the car, serious; Pat Shepard, 15, serious, and William Paige, 18, good condition.

Mary Harmon 16 and Pamela Garrett, 14, were injured slightly.

Police reported the car struck a dividing line on the road as it failed to make a curve and then careened into the pole.

Reports were that Hill was racing another car driven by his brother, Larry Hill, 19.

Eugene Hill was cited to appear in juvenile court while Larry Hill was charged with reckless driving.

It will be my last," he said with a grin.

Mason and Huddleston are students at Emory University in Atlanta. Bartee attends Presbyterian College in Clinton, S.C.

"We went into the cave about 9 p.m. Friday," said Mason. He said they secured a rope at the top of the mud bank to explore two deep holes about a mile inside the cave—which he and Bartee had inspected many times before.

"We knew there was water down there, but we didn't know how much," he said. "I went down first and hit water about chest deep. The others came on down and found the water soon as over their heads."

"We swam about 40 feet and it was getting cold and we started cramping pretty good and we swam on back. We decided it was about time to leave and we started to climb up this sheer cliff by holding onto the rope. But by that time it was pretty slimy. The more we tried to crawl up the rope, the harder it got."

"Using a knife," he continued, "we crawled about 40 feet up the slope and carved out a four-foot trench. We took turns with two of us sitting in it and the third one lying across our laps to keep warm."

Special Negro Train Planned

Dixie Segregationists Arrange Immigration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—An official of the pro-segregation Citizens Council says unnamed donors have agreed to underwrite the cost of a special train to move Negroes northward.

The claim from George Singelmann came after an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked Negroes to ignore the segregationist offer of free one-way tickets out of the South.

Singelmann, a director of the Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans, said in an interview Monday night that donors whom he declined to name have underwritten a special train to cost $20,000. The train would handle about 1,000 passengers.

Clarence Laws, regional secretary of the NAACP, said it would be a "tragic mistake for Negroes to assume that they can go to New York or any other northern city on a one-way ticket furnished by segregationists and obtain the same success which apparently has come to the Louis Boyd family of New Orleans."

The Boyd family—parents and eight children—were given bus transportation and incidental expenses to New York last week. They were put up in a hotel suite and showered with attention, groceries and cash.

Boyd, a dock worker who had been unemployed in New Orleans for six months, took a $100-a-week job Monday as a handyman and freight handler at Jersey City, N.J.

Two busloads of Negroes were to leave for Washington Wednesday, but Singelmann said he was occupied in Baton Rouge on the train project, and did not have time to make final arrangements for the trip. He said two buses would head for Washington and one for New York later in the week.

Singelmann said many applications have been filed, and the only problem now is to arrange transportation on convenient dates.

No questions are asked, Singelmann said, as long as the applicant is a Negro and is dissatisfied with his lot in this area. Most applications, he said, are for New York City.

Ike Revealed To Be Cool On U2 Flight

NEW YORK (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed fear at the time he approved the U2 spy plane program in 1955 that one of the planes might fall into Soviet hands, an article in Look magazine says.

That was five years before the U2 piloted by Francis Gary Powers crashed in the Soviet Union, heightening the crisis in relations between the two nations.

An article in the current issue of the magazine quotes friends of Eisenhower as saying he told advisers when he approved the program:

"If one of these planes is shot down, this is going to be on my head. I'm going to catch hell. The world would be in a mess."

The article quoted the advisers as replying that the Soviets wouldn't disclose it because they wouldn't run the risk of being humiliated by the revelation that their skies had been invaded repeatedly.

"The President was not convinced," the magazine article said. "They would protest, he felt, because that would be the only way to stop the flights."

The article said the President in 1958 expressed continued misgivings about the project in a conversation with his press secretary, James C. Hagerty.

It said he told Hagerty that he often had asked the Central Intelligence Agency: "What happens if you're caught?" And the CIA always replied, "It hasn't happened yet."

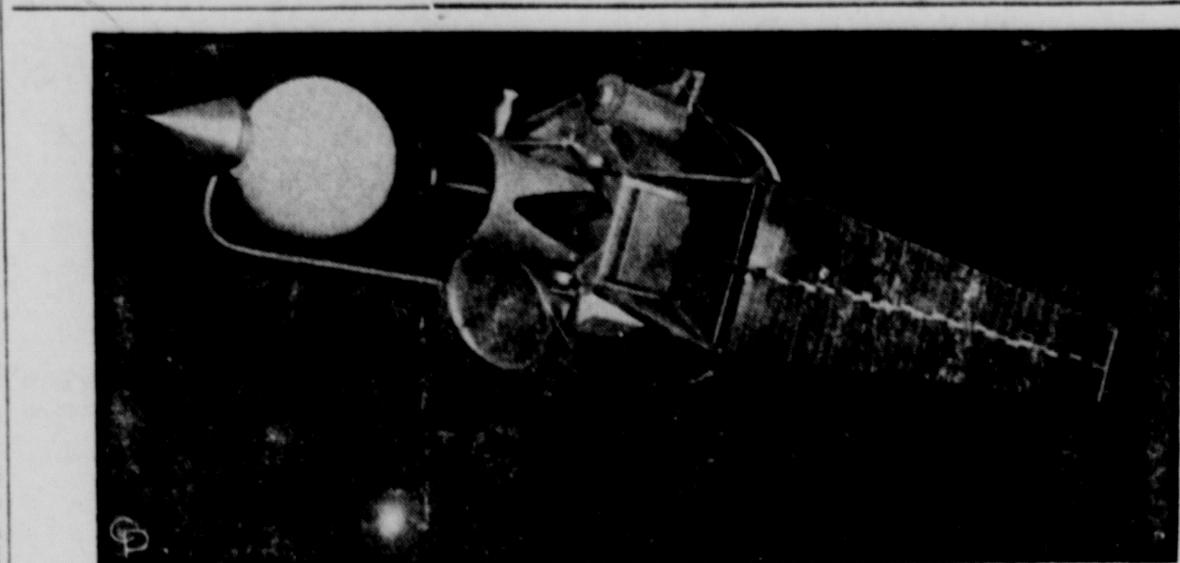

Boy Swipes Python, Wears It as Belt

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Authorities at the San Diego Zoo say a 14-year-old boy had admitted he swiped Buster, the zoo's 4½-foot-long African ball python. He accomplished the abduction by wrapping the python around his waist belt-fashion.

Buster disappeared in the early-morning hours Sunday. Zoo officials weren't greatly worried because Buster has a gentle disposition and is nonpoisonous.

The teen-ager, whose name was not disclosed, said he climbed a zoo fence and broke a window to nab Buster because snakes are his hobby.

Master Plan Narratives Are Requested

Proposals for a working master plan and new zoning ordinance in Circleville moved a step ahead during last night's City Planning and Zoning Commission meeting.

The Planning and Zoning body moved that a written master plan proposal be requested from Miami University. In 1958 Prof. Frankel and a group of Miami students completed a master plan study here.

The previous plan and allied information was mostly on a verbal basis. The P&Z unit now desires a narrative description.

A proposal has already been received here from Carroll V. Hill & Associates, a community planning firm in Columbus. It was suggested last night that additional proposals be requested for comparison purposes.

J. LUDWIG HAECKER requested that the Miami proposal also include the pertinent information on a new zoning ordinance.

In other business, Walter Yarnick was welcomed as a new member of the Planning and Zoning unit. Other members present were Haecker, Mayor Richard Penn, Service Director Ronald Sharrett, Edgar Webb and William Cook.

Argentine Poll Victories Are Ruled Void

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido today decreed the annulment of all elections since December, 1961, and ordered federal control in all provinces throughout Argentina.

The decrees wiped out Peronist election victories in the March 18 elections in which they won 45 races for the Chamber of Deputies and the governorships of five provinces and with the aid of other groups won four other governorships.

Guido's executive order came minutes after army generals took over control of three Argentine provinces from civilian officials.

Guido's action was an apparent prelude to his already announced plans to call a general election before July to choose his successor.

The army took over command in Entre Rios, Santa Fe and Corrientes provinces.

Five other provinces—including Buenos Aires—Argentina's largest, already are being ruled by federal interventors appointed by deposed President Arturo Frondizi.

In the March 18 elections followers of former dictator Juan Peron, with Communist support, won governorship races in the five provinces.

There were no reports of resistance to the army takeover.

U.S. Moonshot Is Addlebrained

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A mooncraft with an injured brain tumbled through space today toward an almost useless collision with the moon after scientists abandoned futile efforts to awaken it from its coma.

The 730-pound silver and gold craft, Ranger 4, will zip by the leading edge of the moon early Thursday and crash at about 8:55 a.m. on its hidden backside, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration says.

The deeply disappointed director of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, William H. Pickering, said: "It's kind of fun, though, to hit the backside. It's not everyone who can do that."

In Pasadena, Calif., a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which made the spacecraft, said there's a longshot chance it may not impact.

Calculations indicate it will skim by the moon's leading edge at a height of 900 miles, then hook in for a landing on the backside. Should it not impact, trackers will pick it up when it emerges from behind the moon. In this event, it would go into an elliptical orbit around both the earth and moon.

The laboratory gave these figures: estimated range at 12:04 p.m. EST, 111,798 miles, speed 3,709 miles an hour; at 4:04 p.m. 125,593 miles, 3,389 m.p.h. The craft's speed is gradually slowed by the earth's gravity until it completes nine-tenths of its journey, then moon gravity takes over and it speeds up until impact.

Impact is expected to occur 63.9 hours after liftoff, at 13.66 degrees south latitude on the moon, 228.97 degrees east longitude.

Ranger 4 was lifted aloft by a towering Atlas-Agena B booster at 3:50 p.m. Monday in what appeared to be a beautiful beginning. Its assigned job was to gather information, including closeup television pictures, on the composition of the moon.

A NASA spokesman said the Atlas had pushed the vehicle to an altitude of about 100 miles and separated, that the second-stage Agena had pushed the craft into parking orbit and cut off, that the Agena had fired a second time to launch Ranger 4 on the second leg of its journey, that the vehicle was on the proper flight path away from the earth at 24,500 miles an hour.

Two hours later a spokesman said, "Tracking information indicates that a malfunction occurred in the spacecraft telemetry (radio) system."

Crash Scene Theft Blamed on Ohioan

JACKSONBORO, Tenn. (AP)—Two brothers—one an Ohioan—have been ordered held for the grand jury here on larceny charge.

Bobby Hale, 30, of Elmwood, Hale, 38, of Douglasville, Ga., are accused of taking jewelry found at the site of a plane crash near Jellico, Tenn.

The brothers have been released on $1,500 bail each.

They said they found the jewelry on a mountainside April 7, a week after the crash of a small twin-engine plane. They said they intended to turn the jewelry over to the FBI after having it appraised by an Elmwood jeweler. The jeweler, however, became suspicious and notified police.

Man Wanted in Ironton Is Nabbed in California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The FBI arrested a missile parts company employee Monday on a charge of unlawful flight from Ironton, Ohio, to avoid prosecution in an armed robbery case.

Agents said William Alexander Gilchrist, 26, is wanted in Ironton in connection with a July 1956 robbery.

Gilchrist was arrested in his apartment here.

McElroy Rips DiSalle Policy

Governor's Aide Says Foo's Charge False

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Democratic Party factions of McElroy and DiSalle locked horns today over procedure for acquiring land for new state highways.

Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy asserted the DiSalle administration has scrapped a policy of negotiating with property owners. And a DiSalle aide promptly labeled the claim "unfounded."

"The administration is engaged in a mad scramble to get millions of dollars worth of new road construction under contract as swiftly as possible," McElroy said in a statement prepared for a news conference.

The attorney general is contesting Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the May 8 primary.

McElroy said he and DiSalle both pledged during the 1958 election campaign to do away with the "one price, take it or leave it" policy of land acquisition and substitute friendly negotiations to cut court suits.

But the attorney general asserted the highway department has junked negotiation, particularly in work on U.S. 35 in the Dayton area.

"No attempts are being made to negotiate settlements before taking the cases into court," McElroy said.

McElroy pointed out that statute permits the state to let a construction contract as soon as appropriation cases are filed in court.

"The DiSalle administration wants these contracts let as swiftly as possible, regardless of how badly the rights of human beings are mangled in the process," the attorney general said.

He stressed that the highway department, rather than the attorney general's office, has control over the filing of condemnation proceedings.

McElroy added that he would place in effect a "permanent policy of fair treatment to property owners—and everyone else—in land acquisitions" if elected governor.

About the same time McElroy was issuing his statement, Everett S. Preston, state highway director, branded them as "unfounded."

McElroy Sees Victory Ahead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy predicted today he would get a 55-45 vote edge over Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The attorney general, who previously declined to estimate his May 8 primary vote, came up with the figure at a news conference after learning that DiSalle had discounted predictions of a 3-1 victory for himself. The governor refused figures but said he wasn't "running scared."

McElroy termed his own victory estimated conservative. He asserted that anything he received above 10 percent of the total Democratic primary vote would be the measure of DiSalle's repudiation by his own party.

Jet Plane Placed In School Yard

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Having a jet airplane in their playground may be the reason many pupils at North Eaton Grade School want to be fliers when they grow up.

Hundreds, if not all, the youngsters in the school district already have examined the jet in their play area. They're allowed to climb all over it and they do—whenever they get a chance.

The T-33, a trainer stripped of its engine, was trucked to the nearby village from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton after being flown from Texas.

Erection of the plane climaxed a three-year effort by the school's parent-teacher association, which got an assist from the Veterans of Foreign Wars & Grange.

Eugene Hill was cited to appear in juvenile court while Larry Hill was charged with reckless driving.

"It will be my last," he said with a grin.

Mason and Huddleston are students at Emory University in Atlanta. Bartee attends Presbyterian College in Clinton, S.C.

"We went into the cave about 9 p.m. Friday," said Mason. He said they secured a rope at the top of the mud bank to explore two deep holes about a mile inside the cave—which he and Bartee had inspected many times before.

"We knew there was water down there, but we didn't know how much," he said. "I went down first and hit water about chest deep. The others came on down and found the water soon was over their heads."

"We swam about 40 feet and we were getting pretty good and we started to climb up this sheer cliff by holding onto the rope. But by that time it was pretty slimy. The more we tried to crawl up the rope, the harder it got."

"Using a knife," he continued, "we crawled about 40 feet up the slope and carved out a four-foot trench. We took turns with two of us sitting in it and the third one lying across our laps to keep warm."

Special Negro Train Planned

Dixie Segregationists Arrange Immigration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—An official of the pro-segregation Citizens Council says unnamed donors have agreed to underwrite the cost of a special train to move Negroes northward.

The claim from George Singelmann came after an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked Negroes to ignore the segregationist offer of free one-way tickets out of the South.

Singelmann, a director of the Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans, said in an interview Monday night that donors whom he declined to name have underwritten a special train to cost $20,000. The train would handle about 1,000 passengers.

Clarence Laws, regional secretary of the NAACP, said it would be a "tragic mistake for Negroes to assume that they can go to New York or any other northern city on a one-way ticket furnished by segregationists and obtain the same success which apparently has come to the Louis Boyd family of New Orleans."

The Boyd family—parents and eight children—were given bus transportation and incidental expenses to New York last week. They were put up in a hotel suite and showered with attention, groceries and cash.

Boyd, a dock worker who had been unemployed in New Orleans for six months, took a $100-a-week job Monday as a handyman and freight handler at Jersey City, N.J.

Two busloads of Negroes were to leave for Washington Wednesday, but Singelmann said he was occupied in Baton Rouge on the train project, and did not have time to make final arrangements for the trip. He said two buses would head for Washington and one for New York later in the week.

Singelmann said many applications have been filed, and the only problem now is to arrange transportation on convenient dates.

No questions are asked, Singelmann said, as long as the applicant is a Negro and is dissatisfied with his lot in this area. Most applications, he said, are from New York City.

Ike Revealed To Be Cool On U2 Flight

NEW YORK (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed fear at the time he approved the U2 spy plane program in 1955 that one of the planes might fall into Soviet hands, an article in Look magazine says.

That was five years before the U2 piloted by Francis Gary Powers crashed in the Soviet Union, heightening the crisis in relations between the two nations.

An article in the current issue of the magazine quotes friends of Eisenhower as saying he told advisers when he approved the program:

"If one of these planes is shot down, this is going to be on my head. I'm going to catch hell. The world would be in a mess."

The article quoted the advisers as replying that the Soviets wouldn't disclose it because they wouldn't run the risk of being humiliated by the revelation that their skies had been invaded repeatedly.

"The President was not convinced," the magazine article said. "They would protest, he felt, because that would be the only way to stop the flights."

The article said the President in 1958 expressed continued misgivings about the project in a conversation with his press secretary, James C. Hagerty.

It said he told Hagerty that he often had asked the Central Intelligence Agency: "What happens if you're caught?" And the CIA always replied, "It hasn't happened yet."

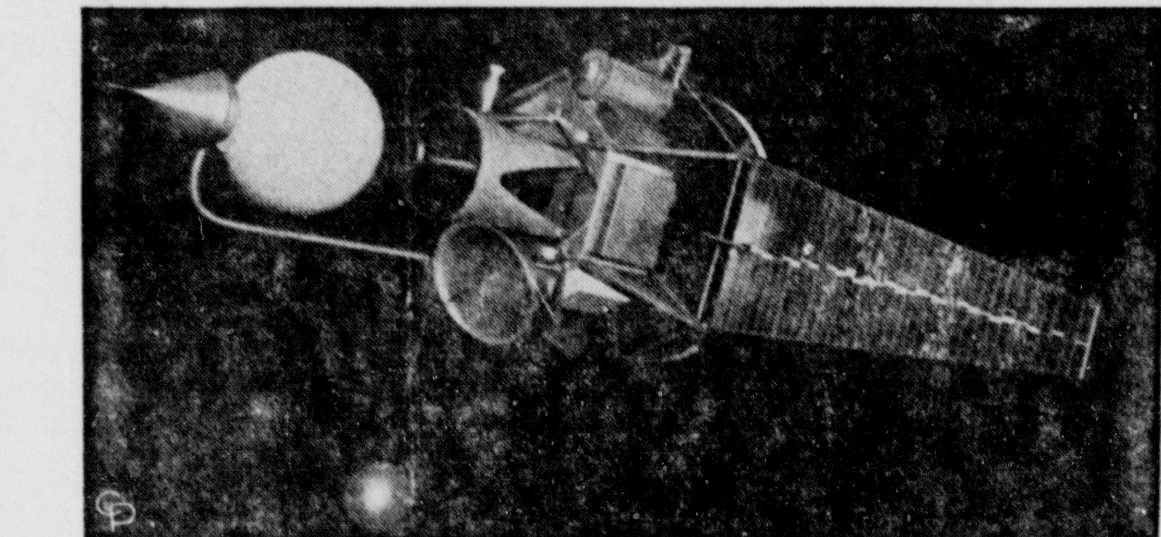

Boy Swipes Python, Wears It as Belt

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Authorities at the San Diego Zoo say a 14-year-old boy had admitted he swiped Buster, the zoo's 4½-foot-long African ball python. He accomplished the abduction by wrapping the python around his waist belt-fashion.

Buster disappeared in the early-morning hours Sunday. Zoo officials weren't greatly worried because Buster has a gentle disposition and is nonpoisonous.

The teen-ager, whose name was not disclosed, said he climbed a zoo fence and broke a window to nab Buster because snakes are his hobby.

Dem Chiefs Wrangle Over Land Purchases

RANGER-4 — This is the 730-pound moon probe — Ranger-4 — which was rocket-aimed toward the moon from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Its goal: Land on the moon and send back TV pictures of moon's surface.

Master Plan Narratives Are Requested

Proposals for a working master plan and new zoning ordinance in Circleville moved a step ahead during last night's City Planning and Zoning Commission meeting.

The Planning and Zoning body moved that a written master plan proposal be requested from Miami University. In 1958 Prof. Frankel and a group of Miami students completed a master plan study here.

The previous plan and allied information was mostly on a verbal basis. The P&Z unit now desires a narrative description.

A proposal has already been received here from Carroll V. Hill & Associates, a community planning firm in Columbus. It was suggested last night that additional proposals be requested for comparison purposes.

J. LUDWIG HAECKER requested that the Miami proposal also include the pertinent information on a new zoning ordinance.

In other business, Walter Yamarick was welcomed as a new member of the Planning and Zoning unit. Other members present were Haecker, Mayor Richard Penn, Service Director Ronald Sharrett, Edgar Webb and William Cook.

Argentine Poll Victories Are Ruled Void

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido today decreed the annulment of all elections since December, 1961, and ordered federal control in all provinces throughout Argentina.

The decrees wiped out Peronist election victories in the March 18 elections in which they won 45 races for the Chamber of Deputies and the governorships of five provinces and with the aid of other groups won four other governorships.

Guido's executive order came minutes after army generals took over control of three Argentine provinces from civilian officials.

Guido's action was an apparent prelude to his already announced plans to call a general election before July to choose his successor.

The army took over command in Entre Rios, Santa Fe and Corrientes provinces.

Five other provinces — including Buenos Aires — Argentina's largest, already are being ruled by federal interventors appointed by deposed President Arturo Frondizi. In the March 18 elections followers of former dictator Juan Peron, with Communist support, won governorship races in the five provinces.

There were no reports of resistance to the army takeover.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A loan of $85,000 for construction of a municipal water system at Beavercreek, Ohio, was announced today by the Community Facilities Administration.

U.S. Moonshot Is Addlebrained

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A mooncraft with an injured brain tumbled through space to day toward an almost useless collision with the moon after scientists abandoned futile efforts to awaken it from its coma.

The 730-pound silver and gold craft, Ranger 4, will zip by the leading edge of the moon early Thursday and crash at about 8:55 a.m. on its hidden backside, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration says.

The deeply disappointed director of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, William H. Pickering, said: "It's kind of fun, though, to hit the backside. It's not everyone who can do that."

In Pasadena, Calif., a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which made the spacecraft, said there's a longshot chance it may not impact.

Calculations indicate it will skim by the moon's leading edge at a height of 900 miles, then hook in for a landing on the backside. Should it not impact, trackers will pick it up when it emerges from behind the moon. In this event, it would go into an elliptical orbit around both the earth and moon.

The laboratory gave these figures: estimated range at 12:04 p.m. EST, 111,798 miles; speed 3,709 miles an hour; at 4:04 p.m. 125,593 miles, 3,389 m.p.h. The craft's speed is gradually slowed by the earth's gravity until it completes nine-tenths of its journey, then moon gravity takes over and it speeds up until impact.

Impact is expected to occur 63.9 hours after liftoff, at 13.66 degrees south latitude on the moon, 228.97 degrees east longitude.

Ranger 4 was lifted aloft by a towering Atlas-Agena B booster at 3:50 p.m. Monday in what appeared to be a beautiful beginning. Its assigned job was to gather information, including closeup television pictures, on the composition of the moon.

A NASA spokesman said the Atlas had pushed the vehicle to an altitude of about 100 miles and

Crash Scene Theft Blamed on Ohioan

JACKSBORO, Tenn. (AP)—Two brothers—one an Ohioan—have been ordered held for the grand jury here on larceny charge.

Bobby Hale, 30, of Elmwood, Hale, 38, of Douglasville, Ga., are accused of taking jewelry found at the site of a plane crash near Jellico, Tenn.

The brothers have been released on $1,500 bail each.

They said they found the jewelry on a mountainside April 7, a week after the crash of a small twin-engine plane. They said they intended to turn the jewelry over to the FBI after having it appraised by an Elmwood jeweler. The jeweler, however, became suspicious and notified police.

Man Wanted in Ironton Is Nabbed in California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The FBI arrested a missile parts company employee Monday on a charge of unlawful flight from Ironton, Ohio, to avoid prosecution in an armed robbery case.

Agents said William Alexander Gilchrist, 26, is wanted in Ironton in connection with a July 1956 robbery. Gilchrist was arrested in his apartment here.

Two hours later a spokesman said, "Tracking information indicates that a malfunction occurred in the spacecraft telemetry (radio) system."

Once Around Roundtown

CIRCLEVILLE's own Ted Lew is has been admitted to University Hospital in New York City, it was learned today. According to Ben Gordon here, the renowned bandsman is having ulcer trouble.

University Hospital is at 20th St. and 2nd Ave. in New York. Ted is in room 1008.

The ole' maestro is due for an appearance at the Maramor in Columbus June 1-8. And his birthday falls on June 6.

In line with Ted's birthday, Gordon and several others here are circulating a telegram in hopes of obtaining 1,000 signatures. The lengthy note of cheer is to be presented to the native son at the Maramor on June 6, which has been designated "Circleville Night."

THE 1962 YEARBOOK at Kings-ton High School has been dedicated to Frank Fischer, 223 Watt St.

Fischer served as superintendent and teacher in the Circleville School System for many years. He currently is a parttime teacher at Kings-ton.

THE BETTER BUSINESS Bureau office in Columbus has notified the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce to be aware of salesmen offering exclusive franchises for the sale of silicone paints.

According to the Columbus office, the franchisees are being offered mostly to service stations and smaller firms. The operation has been classified as misrepresentation by the Bureau.

Information received here disclosed that the salemen make original solicitations by phone, then follow up with personal contacts.

DID ANYONE lose a bird? Mrs. Alva Wells, 622 Elm Ave., yesterday reported to the Herald that she found a strange bird in her yard.

The bird, about the size of a pigeon was greenish-black and had a orange bill and fairly long legs.

The bird apparently ill, was taken to Dr. E. W. Hedges, 980 N. Court St., a local veterinarian who is caring for it.

Dr. Hedges reported today that the bird is responding to treatment.

To date the bird has been tentatively identified as a coot, a mud hen, a blackbird with a red bill and a myna bird that refuses to talk. Dr. Hedges thinks it may be some species of a tropical bird.

McElroy Rips DiSalle Policy

Governor's Aide Says Foe's Charge False

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Democratic Party factions of McElroy and DiSalle locked horns today over procedure for acquiring land for new state highways.

Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy asserted the DiSalle administration has scrapped a policy of negotiating with property owners. And a DiSalle aide promptly labeled the claim "unfounded."

"The administration is engaged in a mad scramble to get millions of dollars worth of new road construction under contract as swiftly as possible," McElroy said in a statement prepared for a news conference.

The attorney general is contesting Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the May 8 primary.

McElroy said he and DiSalle both pledged during the 1958 election campaign to do away with the "one price, take it or leave it" policy of land acquisition and substitute friendly negotiations to cut court suits.

But the attorney general asserted the highway department has junked negotiation, particularly in work on U.S. 35 in the Dayton area.

"No attempts are being made to negotiate settlements before taking the cases into court," McElroy said.

McElroy pointed out that statute permits the state to let a construction contract as soon as appropriation cases are filed in court.

"The DiSalle administration wants these contracts let as swiftly as possible, regardless of how badly the rights of human beings are mangled in the process," the attorney general said.

He stressed that the highway department, rather than the attorney general's office, has control over the filing of condemnation proceedings.

McElroy added that he would place in effect a "permanent policy of fair treatment to property owners—and everyone else—in land acquisitions" if elected governor.

About the same time McElroy was issuing his statement, Everett S. Preston, state highway director, branded them as "unfounded."

McElroy Sees Victory Ahead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy predicted today he would get a 55-45 vote over Gov. Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The attorney general, who previously declined to estimate his May 8 primary vote, came up with the figure at a news conference after learning that DiSalle had discounted predictions of a 3-1 victory for himself. The governor refused figures but said he wasn't "running scared."

McElroy termed his own victory estimated conservative. He asserted that anything he received above 10 per cent of the total Democratic primary vote would be the measure of DiSalle's repudiation by his own party.

Jet Plane Placed In School Yard

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Having a jet airplane in their playground may be the reason many pupils at North Eaton Grade School want to be fliers when they grow up.

Hundreds, if not all, the youngsters in the school district already have examined the jet in their play area. They're allowed to climb all over it and they do—whenever they get a chance.

The T-33, a trainer stripped of its engine, was trucked to the nearby village from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton after being flown from Texas.

Erection of the plane climaxed a three-year effort by the school's parent-teacher association, which got an assist from the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Grafton.

Medic Builds Collection of Doctor's Gear

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An Akron physician who collects old medical items says doctor's fees a century ago ranged from 50 cents for an office visit to $200 for an operation on a clubfoot.

The information is listed on a fee chart that is a prize in the antique collection of Dr. Edmund R. Plunkett. The medical society in Holmes County in Central Ohio issued the chart in 1870.

A three-year search by Dr. Plunkett has turned up more than a thousand things doctors used in the late 19th century. They make a basement recreation room in his home look like a doctor's office around 1870.

The furniture includes a cast-iron stove, a calendar wall clock, and a double-duty footstool with a carpet-inlaid lid for the built-in spittoon.

A conservation piece among the items are pigs—earthenware jugs that were used as hot water bottles because rubber ones were scarce then.

All Dr. Plunkett needs now to complete his collection is an operating table.

Speeders Fined By Muny Court

Three speeding motorists were fined by Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb today on affidavits filed by the State Highway Patrol. They were:

Charles A. Banks Jr., Ironton, who was fined $10 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Nellie Kay Henry, 19, Columbus; $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

John L. Gilbert, Marion; $30 and costs for speeding at 80 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Man Bound to Jury For Non-Support

McElroy Rips

(Continued from Page 1) Preston said. "The same policy is in effect as was inaugurated by Gov. DiSalle's administrative order shortly after he took office."

He said this policy substituted negotiations for the "one - price policy" which had been in effect under the previous administration. It was a part of the Democratic platform of 1958, in fact, Preston added.

The highway director said that in the past 9 months, 4,296 parcels of land have been acquired through negotiations and 766 required legal action. In March, he said, the record was even better, when 612 parcels were acquired and only 39 required legal action. A total of 94 per cent of the right of way acquired during March was successfully negotiated by the highway department, Preston said.

The highway director added that the law contains safeguards which give property owners ample time for vacating properties after the property values are established according to legal procedures. No sudden change in administrative policy could possibly eliminate legal safeguards, he said.

As to McElroy's reports of complaints about right of way acquisitions involving the proposed U.S. 35 project in the Dayton area, Preston said:

"Right of way for this project is being obtained under the advance acquisition program and not a single court case has been filed as yet. A total of 99 parcels have been acquired by negotiation to date. Also, the Dayton U.S. 35 project in question isn't scheduled for construction this year."

In Dayton, City Manager Herbert W. Starick labeled McElroy's statement as being "far from the actual facts."

"Dayton's program for land acquisition on the U.S. 35 and U.S. 25 expressways has followed precisely Gov. DiSalle's stated policy of land acquisition based on fair market appraisals and equitable negotiations," Starick said.

"There has been no sudden shift to a new policy as charged," the city manager said. "The program has been orderly and generally well accepted."

Stock Market Pushes Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective gains pushed the stock market higher despite uneasiness in steel early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 70 at 255.40 with industrials up 1.20, rails up .10 and utilities up .40.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the general rule for key stocks.

U.S. Steel moved uncertainly, showing a small plus sign in early afternoon. The general trend of other steels was lower. Tobacco, oil, farm implements and most aerospace issues were on the upside.

Republic Steel lost around a point and Lukens about 2. Bethlehem dropped a fraction. Youngstown Sheet advanced more than a point as quarterly earnings were reported substantially higher than a year ago.

Federal, State Problems Aired by Ohio Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Federal and state problems were taken to task Monday night as Ohio politicians, with the primary election just two weeks away, began stepping up their campaign efforts.

Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who has been criss-crossing the Buckeye State for weeks in his bid to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, told the Democratic Club of Brook Park, a Cleveland suburb, that Ohio needs an economic speedup in the Cleveland and Massillon area.

At Toledo, John Marshall Briley of nearby Perrysburg warned that increasing power in the hands of the federal government and handling of foreign policy are the two areas of gravest concern to Ohio voters.

Briley, who seeks the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, told Lucas County GOP workers "evidence of the drive for gathering more and more power in the White House is contained in almost every piece of domestic legislation the administration has asked from Congress."

One of his opponents for the Republican selection, John S. Ballard, the Summit County prosecutor, went to Uhrichsville and called for a re-appraisal of the nation's relief and welfare spending programs.

Two of the 11 Democrats driving for their party's nomination for the state's newest political office — congressman-at-large — locked horns before the Democratic Women's Club in Canton.

Alan F. Reeves of Cleveland reminded the group that of 17 congressmen-at-large elected in the past from Ohio, 13 have come from Cuyahoga County and pointed out the Gov. Michael V. DiSalle had remarked that someone from Northeast Ohio might be able to defeat Robert Taft Jr., one of two Republicans seeking the same spot.

Reeves, however, did not mention that three other Democrats seeking the nomination also are from Cuyahoga County.

Joseph J. Murphy of Columbus, another candidate for the Democratic congressman-at-large nod, told the Canton women there is a need for a "constitutional amendment to provide for nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates by a national primary election."

"Today when radio and television bring the candidates to the voter's living room, the convention system prevents nomination of the top candidates by the informed voting public and keeps this power in the hands of a few political bosses, who, in effect are 'king-makers,'" Murphy charged.

Refreshments will be served by a volunteer committee.

Improvements On Route 361 Are Approved

The Pickaway County Board of Commissioners yesterday adopted a resolution authorizing the State Highway Department to proceed with improvement plans on State Route 361 in Pickaway Twp.

A phase of the improvement calls for the construction of a new bridge over the Norfolk & Western Railroad at a point near the Elmwood Elevator. Total length of the project is about .45 mile.

The State plan also calls for the relocation of a portion of Route 361, known as the Circleville-Kingston Road. Portions of existing roads no longer needed will be vacated.

Proposals for altering and widening Boggs Road, not being relocated in connection with the improvement, were included in the resolution. The highway sections involved are to be maintained by the county and township.

ACCORDING to Charles E. Morris, Commission chairman, the old bridge at Elmwood will still be utilized until the new structure is erected.

Morris said construction probably will start after legal processes are completed.

Bridge Plans Get Approval

The approval of plans for a new bridge over Walnut Creek on County Road No. 31 was received yesterday by the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners.

Approval of plans was made as submitted by the Engineer of Bridges, State of Ohio, for the new bridge that will replace the old covered - bridge spanning Walnut Creek near Ashville.

County Engineer Henry T. McCrady said today that construction would not begin until the first week of June. McCrady noted that legal advertisements must be published for four weeks before contracts will be awarded.

County Commissioners are expected to prepare the legal ads at their regular meeting Monday.

Youngster Questioned Concerning Switches

A 9-year-old local boy has been questioned here concerning the tampering of switches at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Washington St. crossing.

The youngster was questioned by Sgt. Herschel Siders, Pennsylvania agent. According to local police, the switch tamperings have been going on for several days in the mornings and evenings.

Judge William Ammer received an approval for $75 in expenses for a trip to Toledo, Judge Ammer will attend the Common Pleas Judges Association meeting at Toledo May 10-12.

Reeves, however, did not mention that three other Democrats seeking the nomination also are from Cuyahoga County.

Joseph J. Murphy of Columbus, another candidate for the Democratic congressman-at-large nod, told the Canton women there is a need for a "constitutional amendment to provide for nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates by a national primary election."

"Today when radio and television bring the candidates to the voter's living room, the convention system prevents nomination of the top candidates by the informed voting public and keeps this power in the hands of a few political bosses, who, in effect are 'king-makers,'" Murphy charged.

Judge Decides Damage Suit

A $105,000 damages suit came to an abrupt end at about 4:15 p. m. yesterday as Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer rendered a direct verdict in favor of the defense.

The suit, filed against the Shaeffer Tire Shop Inc., formerly of 132 E. Franklin St., was seeking judgment against the firm as the result of an accident during an employee's picnic last summer.

Gary Mills, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwell Mills, 1027 S. Washington St., was seriously injured when he was struck in the head by a baseball bat during the outing at Buckeye Lake Park. The Mills were seeking the money as a result of the accident, stating in their petition that the ballgame was unsupervised and therefore the tire shop was liable for the accident.

After all testimony was given before a 13 - member jury, James Kennedy, a Columbus attorney for the defense, made a motion for a direct verdict. A direct verdict requests that the presiding judge issue a verdict and not permit jurors to act upon the issue.

JUDGE Ammer stated that he felt there was not sufficient evidence to show negligence on behalf of the defendant and therefore could not permit jury speculation.

He further stated that it was not the duty of the defense corporation to supervise the recreation during the outing.

His verdict was in favor of the defense and court adjourned at approximately 4:15 p. m.

8 Receive Treatment

Eight persons were treated and released at the emergency room of Berger Hospital yesterday. Adia Hoplite, 42, Amanda Route 1, was pinned between a truck and an overhead door while at work. He was treated for contusions of the chest.

Piling leads fell on Robert Haynes, 22, Hallsville, while he was unloading a truck on Route 22 west of Circleville. He was treated for contusions to both feet and ankles.

Aubrey Pelfrey, 6½, son of Robert Pelfrey, Route 3, fell on a cement block at his home. He suffered a laceration of the forehead.

Marshall Downs Jr., 25, Route 2, Amanda, fell from the back of a refuse truck. He suffered a sprained left ankle.

Hal Conrad, 6, son of Keith Conrad, 1128 McGraw Rd., jumped from a sliding board, spraining his left foot.

Jack Bivens, 43, of 451 Watt St., sprained his left ankle when he jumped from a truck.

James Albright, 16, Commercial Point, injured his right knee while playing baseball in the county tournament at Walnut school.

A pile of lumber fell on the right foot of Harold Clifton, 51, 307 S. Court St., at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. He was treated for a fractured big toe and abrasions to the ankle.

Mooncraft Ignores All Earth Signals

Through the evening, commands were sent to the errant rocket from ground stations in an effort to shock it into action. Shortly before midnight, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Goldstone, Calif., issued a statement. "Since Ranger 4 has not responded to commands from earth stations, a decision has been made not to send the spacecraft mid-course or terminal maneuver commands," the statement said. The mid-course maneuver, scheduled for about 7:50 a.m. today when the rocket should have been near the midway point of its 229,541-mile journey, would have corrected its aim. The terminal maneuver, an hour before the impact with the moon, would have turned the craft so that the television camera would have taken pictures of the lighted side which faces the earth.

NASA scientists felt that any attempt to perform these maneuvers now would probably be futile and might knock Ranger 4 off its collision course. Although Ranger 4's radio command system failed, its radio beacons that permit ground stations to track it continued to function.

Four scientific experiments disclosed with Ranger 4's failure. Its job as it neared the moon was to take photographs of the bright side, measure radioactivity emanating from the surface, and measure the moon's radar reflection properties. Then it was to land the balsawood encased ball containing instruments to record moonquakes, meteor hits and the temperature range.

The failure was the eighth straight by which a lunar probe by the United States has failed to achieve its goal.

The Soviet Union hit the moon's bright side with Lunik II in 1959, and that same year sent Lunik III around the moon for the first and only photographs of the never visible backside.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Under clear skies which permitted maximum cooling, temperatures lowered to near or below freezing in portions of the northern and central counties Monday night.

At daybreak today, representative temperatures included Cleveland 36, Toledo 32, Cincinnati 42, Marietta 36 and Zanesville and Columbus 30.

High pressure centered over the Ohio Valley this morning will be the dominating factor in the Ohio weather through Wednesday. Since little moisture is available, considerable sunshine is likely for the entire state today and Wednesday.

Temperatures will not be quite so cool tonight, and warmer temperatures are forecast for this afternoon and again Wednesday afternoon.

Kingston Man Handed Term in Penitentiary

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Daniel Scully, 46, of Kingston (Ross County), convicted last Tuesday in Common Pleas Court on two counts of forgery, was sentenced Monday to two terms of 1-20 years in Ohio Penitentiary.

Common Pleas Court Judge Warren S. Earhart said the terms will run concurrently. Scully, indicted by a grand jury last January, was charged with passing bad checks at business establishments.

Pertinent Facts on Cancer

By DR. ROBERT G. SMITH

A former cancer patient who has lived for at least five years without evidence of the disease is considered a cured patient.

Living today in this country are well over a million Americans who can consider themselves so fortunate. But there will still be over 170,000 more who will be saved from the disease yet this year.

Grieving Man Seeks Funds For Hospital

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP)—The grief-stricken father of two children who died of drinking poison sought donations today toward building Boca Raton a hospital.

Such a hospital "might not have saved my children but it might save someone else's," said Robert J. Drummond, an industrialist from Michigan.

Drummond's son, James, 3; and daughter, Deborah Ann, 9, died after they were rushed 15 miles to a Boynton Beach hospital Saturday, when they became ill of lead arsenate poisoning. A maid, Romain Baucon, 36, also was hospitalized but was reported in satisfactory condition.

"It would be a terrible thing for someone to die in the back seat of a car while being taken to a hospital 15 miles away," Drummond said. "Some friends suggested we ask for donations for a hospital drive instead of flowers."

The maid and the two children had taken drinks from a liquid that looked like milk, and was in a quart milk container in a refrigerator at the Drummond house. Soon afterward they became violently ill and were hospitalized.

The $7 million Lewiston-Queens-ton Bridge, being built by a steel company over the Niagara River, will have the world's largest hingeless steel arch.

Tape Recorded Evidence OKd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has refused to interfere with use of evidence obtained by a federal alcohol tax agent who connected a tape recorder to his telephone ear piece when he talked with a prospective seller of bootleg whisky.

The resulting tape record was admitted in evidence in U.S. District Court in Atlanta, Ga., over protests by defense attorneys. They cited a section of the Federal Communications Act providing that "no person not being authorized by the sender shall intercept any communication and divulge or publish the existence or contents" of the communication.

Upholding use of the ear piece device and admission of the recorded conversation, the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans stated: "Taking a sensible view of it, the only difference between a person testifying to a conversation in which he participated or overheard and a recording of the conversation is that the recording has the advantage of furnishing trustworthy evidence."

The Circuit Court also referred to a 1957 Supreme Court opinion in another case.

The high tribunal then stated: "The clear inference is that one entitled to receive the communication may use it for his own benefit or have another use it for him. One party may not force the other to secrecy merely by using a telephone."

The appeal acted on today was filed by Ralph B. Carnes and Roger W. Smallwood, who were convicted in the Atlanta court. Carnes was sentenced to four years on a conspiracy count. Smallwood got three years on charges of conspiracy and possession of whisky and a still.

The appeal was rejected by the Supreme Court in a brief order which made no comment. Justice Douglas noted that he favored hearing the case.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The elderly and the aged—with one exception, President Kennedy—are leading the world.

Kennedy at 44 is the only major world leader under 68. The rest range up from there to West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 86.

No wonder, then, Kennedy seems so full of bounce while the others, as the years slide by, appear more and more withdrawn.

Most of them may be gone by the time Kennedy finishes a second term, provided he seeks and wins re-election. If they are, the world will be in for some rearranging which may make these days, disturbed as they are, look tranquil by comparison.

Here are some of the other leaders and their ages and the problems their passing can bring: Soviet Premier Khrushchev, 68; British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, 68; French President Charles de Gaulle, 71; India's Prime Minister Nehru, 72; Red China's leader, Mao Tze-tung, 68; Nationalist China's President Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa, 74; Yugoslavia's President Tito, almost 70; and Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco, 69.

Under Khrushchev the Soviet Union has made gigantic industrial, scientific, and military progress. He has been a hobgoblin for the United States. He is no less dedicated than Joseph Stalin to world domination by communism.

But he scrapped the crudities of the dictator and Stalin's barbarisms; he rattles missiles, but he also preaches "peaceful coexistence." And he has always stopped a good bit short of precipitating war.

His passing could mean a shattering experience inside and outside the Soviet Union, particularly if his successor wants a return to Stalin's tactics, at home and abroad.

De Gaulle has been a one-man show and a one-man boss in France for four years. The people, confronted with civil war and political chaos when he took over, gave him a blank check to save them all.

He has so far. Resentment against him is building up. There is no reason to think, judging from previous French history, that chaos and civil war won't explode when he disappears. No successor is in sight.

Of all the leaders outside the United States, the passing of Macmillan in Britain and Mao Tze-tung in Red China may cause the least commotion.

Britain, with its long democratic tradition, may not have much trouble replacing Macmillan with some one very much like him.

The iron wills and rigid discipline of Mao Tze-tung and the men around him, developed to brilliant degree in 20 years of preparation, is what made the Communist takeover of China possible.

His right-hand men will still be there when he goes. There has never been any talk of rivalry among his possible heirs. The transition from him to one of them may be easy and perhaps is already arranged for.

Adenauer consistently steered West Germany into partnership with the West and away from the Communist world. His successor, whoever he is, may be less enchanted with the West, prefer a neutral position, or even a new relationship with Moscow. Here lies the chance that Adenauer's

Planning Unlimited

The planning fever everywhere is going berserk. Of course there must be foresight in the obliteration of filth and ugliness and chaos. To a point, that is.

Human nature does not follow the drafting board, and it is its quirks and endless varieties and likes and loyalties that create the illusive thing we know as charm. The city of London, as such, was organized neither architecturally, nor as a "planned" economy.

Paris, and those great clusters of human beings that through infinite ingenuity and artistry and taste and individual shim, created their special living arrangements, still draws people from all over the world to taste the fascinations of its ways.

The curse of the age is a blind obeisance to some demi-god called "planning." In its name human beings have been numbered and ticketed and put in a colossal strait-jacket.

Nothing disrupts organization like over-organization. People are being told, or are likely to be told, how they should paint their houses and how they should correct their structure. They are being told what is good in their drinking water and that they must take it, and what is not good for them in their food.

Doctors may soon be in a great sausage machine directed by the politicians in an abstract called state medicine.

As human nature pushes, as it always does, against state orders and restrictions, the only answer by bureaucracy is force, and greater force. Finally it becomes tyranny.

The big bureaucrats, the tyrants, are obvious, and not too hard to deal with so long as people can say what they want to say through the ballot. The pretty autocrat, the mouse in Napoleon's uniform, is less conspicuous.

A free people can do without any of them, or certainly, with as few as possible.

Berlin's Unanswered Questions

News accounts of the next few days may make clearer just what is happening or has happened or is about to happen in Berlin. As of now, there are several unanswered questions:

1. Why did Gen. Lucius Clay return to the United States and retire as President Kennedy's personal representative in the city?

2. Why does Clay expect tensions to remain low for "some time"?

West German officials and newspapers are upset about Clay's return to the U. S. But they too are in the dark, complaining that the reasons have not been fully explained.

Clay said the U. S. has "won a battle" in Berlin but not "a campaign." Behind this there may be unstated reasons, known only to U. S. intelligence authorities, for concluding that the Soviets have adopted a new live-and-let-live attitude toward the German city and Western forces in it.

But in the absence of such reasons, the safest assumption is that this is another instance of Moscow turning down the heat under Berlin to use its propaganda fuel at some other point.

Man Evaluated by Pills

NEW YORK (AP)—The medicine cabinet has become the hope chest of civilization.

A man is no longer judged so much by the number of pills, potions and lotions he stocks in his bathroom storehouse of health and beauty.

There was a time when a bathroom was a place where you went to take a bath. Today a bathroom is a combination clinic, drugstore and beauty parlor.

"The desire to take medicine," said Sir William Osler, "is perhaps the greatest feature which distinguishes man from animals."

Medicine used to be merely the candy of the middle-aged and the elderly. Now it has become a compulsive passion with us, and we all seem to be in the grip of a kind of pharmaceutical voodooism.

We no longer take medicine merely to cure what ails us. We can't wait that long anymore. We swallow all kinds of medicines now to forestall all kinds of ills, real or imaginary, that might even possibly afflict us. We coat our insides with medicine as if it were an interior protective blanket.

Many a man now alive can remember when the family medicine cabinet contained only some iodine and castor oil for the children, some aspirin for Dad and Mom, and some baking soda and laxative tablets for the old folks. One wonders how they all managed to live so long and feel so well amid such bleak medical medical pauperhood. Not even a single wonder drug in the entire house!

Today the two-bathroom home is a necessity not because the average family requires two bathrooms—but because it simply has to have two medicine cabinets in which to stack all the boxes and bottles containing new miracle lozenges and ointments for everything from athlete's foot to eczema.

As a matter of fact, practically every part of the modern home has become something of a disaster area. You'll find medicines from the kitchen refrigerator to the drawer in the bedside table. Sometimes they even get absent-mindedly swept under the living room rug.

But the real miracle of our times is this—why, with all this medicine taking, doesn't every man get more fun out of life than his grandfather did?

A fellow now who wakes up in the morning feeling good has an almost irresistible impulse to rush into the bathroom and swallow a tranquilizing pill. We are so used to chasing health that when we actually gain it we suspect something is wrong with us.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Free spending by consumers in recent days has given the whole economy a spring tonic.

The money has gone for new clothes and autos. More new houses have started to rise. Many older homes are being refurbished. Recreation and travel have garnered more dollars, helped by the arrival of good weather as well as better consumer psychology.

As a result a number of businessmen who formerly were withholding decision on whether they should spend more are now widening their plans for this year's outlays.

Also boosting spirits in the business sector is the flood of earnings reports, the majority decidedly on the cheerful side. And the annual stockholder meetings are being regaled with high hopes by company executives. Even those who view the political weather with alarm are inclined to see good times immediately ahead for their own particular companies.

It doesn't spell a boom, at least none is in sight yet, but it should push back the time schedule of any recession.

On the heels of a record set by retail sales in March comes the report of record store sales in the preholiday spending spurt.

Many reasons are given for this. The late Easter coincided with warm weather in most sections of the nation. And consumers seem to have decided that all the gloomy talk in January and February wasn't too convincing. Also the consumer, as a general rule, is well-heeled. The Commerce Department says the average family income increased by $180 last year. And personal income totals have climbed to new highs this year.

Savings have climbed too. Longer work weeks and some increased wage scales, plus higher employment totals, have sent personal incomes to new heights. Also helping has been a larger outlay of dividends by corporations, the total well above a year ago. Dividend payments, especially increased ones, often set the pace for much spring consumer spending.

The result of all this recent spending spurt will show up on the industrial front later. But already it has been foreshadowed by a rise in factory output, with an accompanying gain in factory employment and in longer work weeks and increased takehome pay.

The industrial output index quickly erased its January bobble and has climbed to a new high. Adding in all the other activities, the Presidents' Council of Economic Advisers has estimated the total output of goods and services in the first three months of the year hit a new peak annual rate of $549 billion, up $6.8 billion from the final three months of 1961.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

We at Griffith Furniture have read with interest the letters to the editor appearing in The Herald concerning business and empty buildings downtown. We wish to congratulate the editor for encouraging them and thank the contributors for their views, both pro and con, as we believe they have served a most useful purpose. We know they have helped us. Our concern with business conditions here is great. So we decided to do some investigating to determine what was wrong, if anything.

In the last several months we have traveled the entire central Ohio area, plus several trips of 100 and 200 miles seeing various towns. And we felt you might be interested in what we discovered. Almost without exception we found the same conditions existing elsewhere, in both large and small towns, as in Circleville. Empty store rooms in the downtown business district and much soul-searching on the part of the towns and their business people as to the cause.

Looking further, we found the same situation exists here. On the edge of town you find new buildings with big parking lots mainly occupied by big stores which used to be downtown and pulled the business traffic into the center of town. And now being on the outskirts, they pull the business away from the center of town.

And more stores are moving or planning to move to the edge of town every day.

Take all the stores on the outskirts and move them all back to the downtown business district and you would again have the big downtown traffic you used to see, and every store would be operating.

Most of the store operators told me that this is a way of life that is gone forever, just like the days of the grocery store on every corner.

A Cleveland newspaper in its Sunday edition several weeks ago ran an inside cover page by four experts asking "What's Wrong With Downtown?" Downtown Cincinnati is facing the same dilemma, and it's no picnic in Columbus.

One gentleman we talked with said, "Our largest advertisers in this small town are our big groceries. Their ads used to pull business and traffic downtown. Now the same ads are pulling business out of the downtown to the big stores with parking lots."

"There isn't much we can do about the parking situation downtown, but what we have to do, instead of getting business from the traffic that the grocery ads used to create, is to run those large ad ourselves. And we are going to have to give our customers such good service and bargains they will come to us to do their shopping. We coasted long enough on the other fellow's pulling power and now we are going to have to do the job ourselves."

The relocation of stores to the outskirts with much parking space seemed to be the number one factor in the decline of downtown shopping.

You might ask — what has this to do with Griffiths? We are an outlying store with plenty of parking space, true. But it is all stores working together to bring people to Circleville as their shopping area which benefits us all.

Every customer going downtown is a potential customer for us, and every customer we bring to town is a potential customer for our downtown stores. Every store that goes out of business means less selection for our customers and we lose their drawing power.

In our travels we naturally talked with many furniture men because this is our first love. In most towns we found a duplicate of our own store and almost of our merchandise, and we were nearly satisfied. But in the back of our minds still was a small doubt, a feeling something was missing.

And then one day we came across a furniture store that was different. It was amazing.

The most wonderful man I ran this store about 100 miles from here. He gave us some mighty fine words of wisdom and advice.

When we left this store we were inspired to go and do likewise, so to speak. In the next few months as we can make the changes we are going to try to present to consumers a much better store, more like we would want to shop in and buy from, if we were the customer.

But, if it hadn't been for the letters in the newspaper we would never have found our ideal. So we owe a debt of gratitude to The Herald and to all the people writing letters because they have helped guide us to the kind of store we believe the citizenry will want in the future.

As to our present downtown firms in comparison to other towns, we found that we are fortunate to have a group of energetic, ambitious fellows running most of the stores. They know what they are doing and where they are going, and we haven't a doubt you'll find them forging ahead in the years ahead.

We are also blessed here by having much better banks than most of the towns I visited. They are encouraging all our business houses to greater progress. This is going to help much.

The one big factor all small town stores have going for them is the national trend to discount houses.

When one big discount firm hits a city of 50,000 or more population it has tremendous prices and makes a killing. Then another moves in, and then another. This slacks off business and makes the overhead per item go up... and up goes prices.

Then comes another cutting all their volumes and up goes price-

Contrary to Principle

Talking about inflation, it has been historical experience that when there is no metal support for currency, inflation occurs and the currency loses in value, that is, in purchasing power.

I know of no data which upsets this basic principle and experience about money. Perhaps the United States Treasury has come into possession of such data.

On November 27, 1961, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon wrote a letter to the President in which he explained the present position of silver in the world and in the United States. He then made the following proposal to the President:

"... I propose that we now begin an actual though gradual withdrawal of silver bullion from the currency reserves, permitting substitution of federal reserve notes for the silver certificates withdrawn and using the bullion thereby released to meet our continual heavy coinage requirements. It would seem to me that this is another step in the withdrawing of metal support for the dollar.

On November 28, 1961, President Kennedy wrote Secretary of the Treasury Dillon as follows:

"On the basis of your recommendations and the studies conducted by the Treasury and other departments, I have reached the decision that silver metal should gradually be withdrawn from our monetary reserves.

"Simultaneously with the publication of this letter, you are directed to suspend further sales of 'free' silver, and to suspend use of 'free' silver held by the Treasury for coinage. In this way, the remaining stock and any subsequently acquired can be used, at your discretion, to contribute to the maintenance of an orderly market in silver and for such other special purposes as you may determine. In order to meet coinage needs, the amount of silver required for this purpose should be obtained by retirement from cir-ulation of a sufficient number of five-dollar and ten-dollar silver certificates.

"Pursuant to this general determination, I intend to recommend to Congress, when it reconvenes, that it repeal the acts relating to silver of 1934, 1935, 1936, 1939, and 1946. The existing tax on transfers of interest in silver bullion has been necessary only to provide reinforcement for this legislation. I will therefore simultaneously propose that the relevant portion of the Internal Revenue Code also be repealed.

"These actions will permit the establishment of a broad market for trading in silver on a current and forward basis comparable to the markets in which other commodities are traded. Our new policy will in effect provide for the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage.

"Although the potential supply of silver now embodied in the outstanding five-dollar and ten-dollar certificates will be sufficient to cover coinage requirements for a number of years, I believe this is an appropriate time to provide for the gradual release of the silver now required as backing for one-dollar and two-dollar silver certificates. I shall therefore also recommend that legislation be enacted to accomplish this purpose and authorize the Federal Reserve Banks to include these denominations in the range of notes they are permitted to issue.

Sincerely,

John F. Kennedy

The publication of this letter, indicating "the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage" did not startle Europe where the American inflation is being watched both as a political and an economic phenomenon. The end of the year 1961 brought to a virtual end bi-metalism in the United States and as gold cannot, under the law, be exchanged for currently by an American but may be by a European or an Asiatic, the American dollar has only such metal support as the Treasury owns gold.

During the Hoover and Roosevelt Administrations Senators Borah and Pittman fought violently for bi-metalism in the United States. Their principal interest was not sound currency but support for the American silver mining industry. It was the increase in the price of silver in the United States which produced a frightful inflation in China and was one major cause for the success of the Chinese Communists against Chiang Kai-shek.

Both China and Hong Kong went on a gold basis and today there is practically no silver standard country on Earth. As recently as the end of 1960 and the beginning of 1961, the London market reported a large exodus of silver from China.

es again, until a good comparison shopper soon finds his friendly home town store with its service and guarantees is a much better place to buy.

Several trips to a no guarantee, no service, impersonal discount house does it.

In the meantime the big city stores, to meet competition, are cutting down on service. They too are driving customers back to their friendly home town merchant.

Circleville is doing alright. We have fine stores here doing plenty of business and I think you'll find in the future our stores will offer more for the consumer than anywhere you can go.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Planning Unlimited

The planning fever everywhere is going berserk. Of course there must be foresight in the obliteration of filth and ugliness and chaos. To a point, that is.

Human nature does not follow the drafting board, and it is its quirks and endless varieties and likes and loyalties that create the illusive thing we know as charm. The city of London, as such, was organized neither architecturally, nor as a "planned" economy.

Paris, and those great clusters of human beings that through infinite ingenuity and artistry and taste and individual whim, created their special living arrangements, still draws people from all over the world to taste the fascinations of its ways.

The curse of the age is a blind obeisance to some demi-god called "planning." In its name human beings have been numbered and ticketed and put in a colossal strait-jacket.

Nothing disrupts organization like over-organization. People are being told, or are likely to be told, how they should paint their houses and how they should correct their structure. They are being told what is good in their drinking water and that they must take it, and what is not good for them in their food.

Doctors may soon be in a great sausage machine directed by the politicians in an abstract called state medicine.

As human nature pushes, as it always does, against state orders and restrictions, the only answer by bureaucracy is force, and greater force. Finally it becomes tyranny.

The big bureaucrats, the tyrants, are obvious, and not too hard to deal with so long as people can say what they want to say through the ballot. The pretty autocrat, the mouse in Napoleon's uniform, is less conspicuous.

A free people can do without any of them, or certainly, with as few as possible.

Berlin's Unanswered Questions

News accounts of the next few days may make clearer just what is happening or has happened or is about to happen in Berlin. As of now, there are several unanswered questions:

1. Why did Gen. Lucius Clay return to the United States and retire as President Kennedy's personal representative in the city?

2. Why does Clay expect tensions to remain low for "some time?"

West German officials and newspapers are upset about Clay's return to the U. S. But they too are in the dark, complaining that the reasons have not been fully explained.

Clay said the U. S. has "won a battle" in Berlin but not "a campaign." Behind this there may be unstated reasons, known only to U. S. intelligence authorities, for concluding that the Soviets have adopted a new live-and-let-live attitude toward the German city and Western forces in it.

But in the absence of such reasons, the safest assumption is that this is another instance of Moscow turning down the heat under Berlin to use its propaganda fuel at some other point.

Man Evaluated by Pills

NEW YORK (AP)—The medicine cabinet has become the hope chest of civilization.

A man is no longer judged so much by the company he keeps as by the number of pills, potions and lotions he stocks in his bathroom storehouse of health and beauty.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

We at Griffith Furniture have read with interest the letters to the editor appearing in The Herald concerning business and empty buildings downtown. We wish to congratulate the editor for encouraging them and thank the contributors for their views, both pro and con, as we believe they have served a most useful purpose. We know they have helped us.

Our concern with business conditions here is great. So we decided to do some investigating to determine what was wrong, if anything.

In the last several months we have traveled the entire central Ohio area, plus several trips of 100 and 200 miles seeing various towns. And we felt you might be interested in what we discovered.

Almost without exception we found the same conditions existing elsewhere, in both large and small towns, as in Circleville. Empty store rooms in the downtown business district and much soul-searching on the part of the towns and their business people as to the cause.

Contrary to Principle

By George Sokolsky

Talking about inflation, it has been historical experience that when there is no metal support for currency, inflation occurs and the currency loses in value, that is, in purchasing power.

I know of no data which upsets this basic principle and experience about money. Perhaps the United States Treasury has come into possession of such data.

On November 27, 1961, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon wrote a letter to the President in which he explained the present position of silver in the world and in the United States. He then made the following proposal to the President:

"I propose that we now begin an actual though gradual withdrawal of silver bullion from the currency reserves, permitting substitution of federal reserve notes for the silver certificates withdrawn and using the bullion thereby released to meet our continually heavy coinage requirements. . . It would seem to me that this is another step in the withdrawing of metal support for the dollar. On November 28, 1961, President Kennedy wrote Secretary of the Treasury Dillon as follows:

"On the basis of your recommendations and the studies conducted by the Treasury and other departments, I have reached the decision that silver metal should gradually be withdrawn from our monetary reserves.

"Simultaneously with the publication of this letter, you are directed to suspend further sales of 'free' silver, and to suspend use of 'free' silver held by the Treasury for coinage. In this way, the remaining stock and any subsequently acquired can be used, at your discretion, to contribute to the maintenance of an orderly market in silver and for such other special purposes as you may determine. In order to meet coinage needs, the amount of silver required for this purpose should be obtained by retirement from cir-ulation of a sufficient number of five-dollar and ten-dollar silver certificates.

"Pursuant to this general determination, I intend to recommend to Congress, when it reconvenes, that it repeal the acts relating to silver of 1934, 1936, 1937, 1939, and 31, July 1946. The existing tax on transfers of interest in silver bullion has been necessary only to provide reinforcement for this legislation. I will therefore simultaneously propose that the relevant portion of the Internal Revenue Code also be repealed.

"These actions will permit the establishment of a broad market for trading in silver on a current and forward basis comparable to the markets in which other commodities are traded. Our new policy will in effect provide for the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage.

"Although the potential supply of silver now embodied in the outstanding five-dollar and ten-dollar certificates will be sufficient to cover coinage requirements for a number of years, I believe this is an appropriate time to provide for the gradual release of the silver now required as backing for one-dollar and two-dollar silver certificates. I shall therefore also recommend that legislation be enacted to accomplish this purpose and authorize the Federal Reserve Banks to include these denominations in the range of notes they are permitted to issue.

Sincerely,

John F. Kennedy

The publication of this letter, indicating "the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage" did not startle Europe where the American inflation is being watched both as a political and an economic phenomenon. The end of the year 1961 brought to a virtual end bi-metalism in the United States and as gold cannot, under the law, be exchanged for currently by an American but may be by a European or an Asiatic, the American dollar has only such metal support as the Treasury owns gold.

During the Hoover and Roosevelt Administrations Senators Borah and Pittman fought violently for bi-metalism in the United States. Their principal interest was not sound currency but support for the American silver mining industry. It was the increase in the price of silver in the United States which produced a frightful inflation in China and was one major cause for the success of the Chinese Communists against Chiang Kai-shek.

Both China and Hong Kong went on a gold basis and today there is practically no silver standard country on Earth. As recently as the end of 1960 and the beginning of 1961, the London market reported a large exodus of silver from China.

Farm Bureau Says U.S. Policy Hurts Farmer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is blaming the government for what it calls recent severe dents in net farm income.

The current issue of the big farm organization's monthly magazine, The Nation's Agriculture, says government spending programs as well as price-fixing and labor legislation have joined hands to create conditions which deny producers a just return.

The Kennedy administration, on the other hand, blames faulty farm programs and opponents of stronger programs — which include the Farm Bureau — for the situation.

The magazine reports that gross farm income—total receipts before deduction of production costs—was $5.9 billion higher in 1961 than in the 1947-49 period. Yet net farm income—amount left after costs—dropped from an annual average of $15.8 billion in the 1947-49 period to $12.7 billion last year.

The mischief-maker in this situation, the Farm Bureau says, was a $9-billion annual increase in production costs.

Things listed as having pushed the costs up included increases in Social Security taxes, fixed prices of manufactured products under a fair trade act, legislation granting labor unions power to get wage increases above labor's increased productivity, increases in the federal minimum wage level, increased federal taxes caused by new spending programs and what it called a government policy to push up farm wage rates.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of American tobacco in February were down 3.9 per cent from a year earlier at a total of 23.7 million pounds.

For the first eight months of the current marketing year ending July 1, foreign shipments were 1.8 per cent smaller than a year earlier. They totaled 392.6 million pounds.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department claimed today a near-perfect record for collections on loans made by its Farmers' Home Administration for rural housing.

It said that during the 12 years the housing loan program has been in operation, losses have amounted to only two one-hundredths of 1 per cent. Loans have totaled $357 million. Borrowers have paid $136.5 million in principal and interest on these loans. Only about $84,000 has been written off as uncollectable.

Apportionment In Michigan To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court pumped judicial life Monday in the issue of whether a state can adopt amendments to its own constitution giving rural voters greater proportionate voice in the state legislature than city voters.

It directed that the Michigan Supreme Court consider, in the light of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling March 26 in a Tennessee case, whether amendments Michigan adopted to its constitution in 1952 are in violation of the federal Constitution. The Michigan Supreme Court had dismissed a complaint raising the issue.

In the Tennessee case, the high court had ruled that federal courts may hear complaints by voters who say their votes are diluted by an unfair apportionment of state legislative seats.

Both cases bear with variations on an issue of great controversy in numerous states: A contention that a minority of rural voters is able, through unfair apportionment of seats, to control the state legislature.

In Tennessee, there is a reapportionment act which complainants in the case contended had not been carried out.

In Michigan, the apportionment had been written by amendments into the state constitution.

First Exports

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — For the first time in its history, the island of Aruba is exporting vegetables.

Aruba is an extremely dry island 35 miles off the coast of Venezuela. Its 69 square miles produce refined oil, salt and phosphates, but water is so scarce it has to be imported and the soil is barren.

Sever months ago, a firm called Hydroponics International built two hydroponic farms to produce fresh vegetables for the 48,000 citizens of Aruba. On a hydroponic farm, vegetables are grown in sawdust and shavings in concrete beds with big doses of fertilizer.

S. B. Robbins of Fort Myers, president of the firm, said that recently the two farms produced more tomatoes than were needed. The excess is being shipped to Puerto Rico and Miami, he said.

Solons Ask Use Of Stockpile

JFK Urged To Furnish Material To Jobbers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators urged President Kennedy Monday to use some of the towering surpluses in the government's stockpile by furnishing the materials for defense contracts.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., chairman of the special Senate Armed Services subcommittee conducting an inquiry into the stockpiling situation, outlined the plan in a statement at a public hearing.

"It is now clear that regardless of the reasons, the United States has in its various stockpiles and inventories billions of dollars of materials which are unnecessary for either our security or our prosperity, and in some cases these materials are deteriorating," he said.

"We are recommending to the President that in order to reduce these tremendous inventories, payment for various materials purchased by the Defense Department for the current multibillion defense program be made at least in part by the government furnishing those materials to the supplier in question which would be necessary for that supplier to have in order to fill the order in question."

R. C. Coburn, subcommittee counsel, told reporters that under such a plan the government in buying tires or tubes for defense purposes, for instance, would provide the manufacture with surplus rubber from the stockpile for at least partial payment of the contract. The manufacturer would use the rubber to produce the items.

George K. Casto, who has handled rubber purchases for the stockpile since 1949, said the government now owns 1,091,936 tons of rubber with a market value of about $691 million.

Mormon Elder Dies in Utah At Age of 88

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Elder George Q. Morris, 8, a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, died Monday.

He had been hospitalized for some time for treatment of a stroke.

Elder Morris was appointed an assistant to the Council of Twelve in 1951, and was appointed a full apostle in April, 1954.

He was a prominent Salt Lake City business man, having been for many years president of Elias Morris & Sons Co., a tile and monument firm.

He was known particularly for his work with Boy Scouts and young people.

Elder Morris was born Feb. 20, 1874, in Salt Lake City.

He was 80 years old when he was named a member of the Council of the Twelve. He commented: "Moses was called at 80."

Survivors include his widow, and three daughters: Miss Marion Morris and Mrs. Edward A. Woods, both of New York City; and Mrs. Roy T. Stewart, Northridge, Calif.

Caroline's Play Area Gets Attention during 'Egg Roll'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caroline Kennedy's playground was the center of attraction at the traditional Easter egg rolling on the White House south lawn yesterday.

Thousands of children and adults who came for the annual spree made a beeline for the play area—even before taking a close look at the Executive Mansion.

President and Mrs. Kennedy and their two youngsters are vacationing in Palm Beach and the Kennedy children's play area was the closest the visitors could come to the first family.

The swings, playhouse, jungle gym and small black and white punching bag suspended from a tree were pointed out eagerly.

"They even have a miniature golf course for her," one woman told her youngster as they gazed at the President's nearby, close-cropped, putting green.

The egg rolling itself seems to have lost its significance since it was started in 1878.

There were more cameras than gaily-colored Easter eggs. And the children and adults who accompanied them seemed confused about what the occasion called for. White House policemen answered a constant question such as:

"What do you have to do? Furnish your own eggs?"

"Our little Chamber of Commerce does more for the kids than the White House does," one woman declared. "With all our surpluses we should have some eggs," she said.

The policeman explained, "You bring your own eggs." They told the inquirers this was a tradition started years ago to give the children a place to play on Easter Monday and that the White House does not provide eggs for either hunting or rolling. Many children had showed up with empty paper bags and empty Easter baskets.

"We came here for nothin'," a little boy listening to the explanation commented.

For those who remembered to bring their eggs there was plenty of lawn to cavort on. Four military bands provided music. Despite threatening weather, 5,350 people gathered in the first hour.

ed author of "Andersonville" who has written an amazing version of history as it did "NOT" happen. Points brought up were: what would have happened to the Union, to Abraham Lincoln, to the people of the North and South?

Mrs. Sprague commented on the switches in the events of the summer of 1863 that could have turned the tide for the Confederacy. She said the death of Major General Ulysses S. Grant would have come as a sickening shock to the Northerners who had hoped for a successful campaign in the West.

As the mythical story goes, General Grant had left Grand Gulf cutting himself off from his base of supplies. He fared into the field with only the barest staples for the three army corps under his command. He was pressing his advance through unoccupied country between two hostile armies. Grant's horse became unsettled from the blast of a whistle from a steam mill.

The horse reared and lost its footing in the clay road and pitched heavily to one side landing half on its back, with the rider underneath receiving the weight of the crushing, falling body. A surgeon was found and pronounced General Grant dead.

If this accident had happened three months later in no way would the conduct of the war been so affected.

In two months the Army of the Potomac had dissolved into hopeless tatters — a pitiful mockery of an army. News of the military tragedies which had affected the entire North into either hysteria or paralysis. It seemed that the structure of the Government and the soul and body of the nation seemed to be falling apart.

Friends of President Abraham Lincoln feared for his safety. He was advised by a close friend to leave the White House with his family. After much persuasion he appeared from his study dressed in a shabby old overcoat and a crushed felt hat. He said, "I wore these duds when I came to Washington, and I might as well wear them going out." After he stroked little Tad's head, who was so frightened, he said in a dry whisper "it is finished."

Within a few hours after the flight of Lincoln and his family, many Confederates were prowling the White House corridors or staring with awe into dark and silent chamber of the House and the Senate in the new Capitol Building.

Jeb Stewart's command arrived and people realized that the worst was over. Jaunty troopers hauled down the flags and substituted Confederate guidons or battle banners.

These demonstrations were halted in short order by General Robert E. Lee and his staff. He said, "I desire earnestly that the colors of the U. S. Government be restored to their rightful place until the mediation of regularly constituted authorities may make other disposition.

Abraham Lincoln acknowledged that the U. S. of America could no longer be held together by force of arms. He tendered his formal resignation from the Presidency. "Let Americans all!" he said, "North and South, blue and gray now affirm that our dead shall not have perished without purpose." Let us pray that our two governments shall have a new birth in freedom."

It was the most bitter potion that the North was compelled to swallow in the awful dosage of defeat—the core, the brain and a heart center of the U. S. of America handed over to the Confederate States of America.

It was named the District of Dixie. After months of wrangling the capitol of the U. S. was settled. It was Columbus, O. The city was named Columbia. Angry bickering and the resistance to authority of Washington characterized the Davis Administration.

Texas armed 1,500 men and rode north across the Red River and deployed at strategic points throughout the Indian Territory. Columbia demanded that Washington order immediately the withdrawal of Texas troops.

Two days later Houston Lockey was named provisional President of the second Republic of Texas. The Confederate States of America heard and felt the mutterings of abolition within their own borders. It was the trend of the 19th. century and could no longer be ignored or denied.

The Liberation Act with financial restitution to slave owners passed both houses of Congress in 1865. It was decreed that all children born to slaves after Jan. 31, 1813 should be free.

President James Longstreet said to the nation on Freedom Day, April 13, 1865, "Let us welcome these faithful people into our economic structure and profit mutually through them and with them."

Banquet Set For Bowlers

The Ladies Wednesday Matinee Bowling League of Circle-D Recreation Center will hold its annual banquet at 6 p. m. tomorrow at the Pickaway Country Club.

The winning team this year is the Northend Market and the sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Bertus Bennett, will be special guests at the banquet.

An election and installation of next year's officers will highlight the business session.

Trophies will be awarded for the following: high individual score, high individual game, individual high average, most improved bowler, high team, and to the individual who turned in the most splits.

Games and contests will be held as the entertainment.

Small whole cooked carrots look pretty around a meat or fish dish. Cook the carrots in a small amount of boiling salted water for about 15 minutes to have tender-crisp.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

For Smoking Readers Only!

DEAR ABBY: My man smoked three packs of cigarettes a day and chewed up a whole box of snuff, too. He said that his mouth felt like the bottom of a bird cage. He got a prescription from his doctor for something that was guaranteed to curb his desire for smoking. I don't know what it was, but I know I saw a miracle happen because my husband hasn't smoked in 4 years.

OLLIE'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: One day, twelve years ago, I decided that smoking was a filthy, stupid and expensive habit, so I made up my mind to quit. This is what I did. The moment I walked into a room, I announced, "I'VE QUIT SMOKING." After that I couldn't very well bum a cigarette off anyone, and I didn't carry them myself. I knew that I didn't dare beg a smoke or I'd make myself look like a real jerk. It was a matter of pride.

NO JERK

DEAR ABBY: After having the cigarette habit for 40 years, I took my cigarette out of my pocket and said, "You have been bossing me around for 40 years, now I am going to boss YOU around." I put away the pack and never smoked again. That was 15 years ago. I'm now 92 and feel fine.

W. H. E.

DEAR ABBY: When I had to have a cigarette before I could open my eyes fully in the morning, I knew I had better quit. I tried to taper off, but that never works. I finally walked into a church one morning (it wasn't even of my own denomination) got down on my knees and prayed to God to deliver me of the habit. And do you know I haven't smoked or even had the desire to, since? When everything else fails, try prayer.

ORDINARY GUY

DEAR ABBY: My husband smoked like a chimney. He had a lung X-ray taken at the suggestion of his physician. A dark shadow was discovered on his lung. Fortunately it was NOT cancer, but my husband snipped off that part of the X-ray and taped it to a package of cigarettes. He carries it with him constantly and now every time he is tempted to smoke, he looks at the X-ray and takes a peppermint drop instead.

GRATEFUL

DEAR ABBY: Here is a proven method for overcoming the cigarette habit. If a person smokes 40 cigarettes a day, he should cut down to 39 the first day, 38 the second, 37 the third and so forth. It takes a lot of will power, but if I could do it (I was a 4-pack-a-day smoker for 32 years) anybody can.

WILLPOWER

DEAR ABBY: A psychologist once told me that in order to break a habit, substitute another one. So instead of reaching for a cigarette, reach for a piece of gum, a carrot stick or a piece of licorice. It really works. When you finally get your sense of taste and smell back again, you will never go back to smoking. It happened to me after 30 years.

SUBSTITUTOR

DEAR ABBY: I sat down one day, at the age of 48, and started to add up the amount of money I had spent for cigars since I started to smoke them at the age of 24. When I realized that $5,000 had gone up in smoke, I lost my appetite for smoking.

SMART TOO LATE

DEAR ABBY: I was a chain smoker for over forty years. I started to get pains in my chest and I had a dry cough that came and went, but I didn't worry about it too much. I went to the doctors and he examined me thoroughly. He shook his head and said, "Either give up smoking—or else I will not be responsible for your condition." I took the cigarettes out of my shirt pocket, tossed them in his waste basket and made up my mind that I had had my last one. And I have. I am 77 years old and no amount of money could make me smoke another cigarette. The answer: WILLPOWER.

Nichols Wins Houston Purse

Nicklaus Is Third In Classic Playoff

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Nichols took a flying leap from 18th to fourth place in the PGA money rankings by winning the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic.

He owes it all to a beautiful, 240-yard shot from the rough he made Monday with a four wood. "It was my best shot of the tournament," said the 26-year-old former Southwest Conference champ from Texas A&M.

It set him up with an eight-foot putt for an eagle on the 19th hole of a scheduled 18-hole playoff to win the Classic's $9,000 first prize.

Nichols defeated Dan Sikes, a 30-year-old unknown from Jacksonville, Fla., and Jack Nicklaus, the 1961 National Amateur champion. Sikes and Nichols tied at 71 on the 18-hole playoff with Nicklaus five strokes behind.

Then came the 19th-hole — the par 5, 558-yard No. 1 on Memorial Park municipal course that Nichols hadn't even been able to birdie in five rounds.

Nichols got into trouble with his tee shot, but it was long trouble. He drove about 318 yards and to the right of the fairway.

He asked his caddy for the No. 4 wood and belted the ball smack onto the green to put the pressure on Sikes.

Sikes, a law grad from the University of Florida, calmly made a birdie.

Nicklaus and Sikes, officially given a second-place tie, won $3,800 each, making it the biggest pay day of the year for all three.

Nichols, a pro since 1959, increased his winnings for the year to $17,874.67 in official money. He had not won a tournament until he finished first at St. Petersburg earlier this year. He picked up enough unofficial money Monday from endorsements to make his eagle worth $14,750.

Stengel Delighted By Mets' Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel, delighted with his New York Mets' first baseball victory, said Monday night, "I'm so excited I'm shaking."

"We sure was on a long nap," the former Yankee manager told newsmen after the Mets clipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-1 for their first league victory after nine straight losses.

"If we win 99 more we'll take this pennant. All I want to know is where have we been. Someone must have given us a pill."

Matinee Time Draws Near

Pace, Trot Marks Are Getting Better

By COL. J. E. GROOM

During the past week at the local oval, railbirds clocked several horses in 2:15 or better for an indication that Sunday's Harness Matinee here will provide plenty of action.

Among the speedsters with good times are the ever popular Steamin' Demon and I'm It from the Van Camp stable, with Jack Betts in charge. Both of these horses went the distance easy in 2:15.

It will be recalled that I'm It was the season's champion 3-year-old pacing filly in 1961, doing a mile in 1:59 4/5. As a 2-year-old she held the track record at Spioto Downs with a time of 2:03 3/5. As a 3-year-old it was 3:02 3/5.

She had one win at Roosevelt Raceway and was twice second in her last four starts, including a photo finish loss to Little Hussy in a $10,000 stake race at Arden Downs in Washington Pa.

VIRGIES WORTHY by Worthy Boy has worked in 2:15. This classy 3-year-old trotter should have a good season. As a 2-year-old he was timed in 2:08 on a half-mile track, and on the Lexington mile track at 2:05.

The lone 3-year-old pacer owned by Van Camp is Cheeta Can (2:09 2/5), by Florican. He has worked a mile in 2:20.

Last year Cheeta Can was the only horse in Ohio to beat Cutie Hill (owned by Charlie Hill of Columbus) that later won many races in the Grand Circuit. The dam of this colt, Cheeta Goose, is a good race mare in her own right. As a 3-year-old she had a record of 2:00 4/5 and was second in a heat in the Little Brown Jug.

In the 2-year-old division is the pacing filly Dancing Cheeta by Scottish Pence and also out of Cheeta Goose. Betts has been going easy with her, believing she is one of the best horses in the stable.

Betts has worked her in 2:30, but believes her capable of going in much faster time.

VIRGIES QUEEN by Worthy Boy out of Virginia Van also has worked in 2:30.

STEAMIN' SONG is by Steamin' Demon out of Fern Song by Gay Song. This is blue blood breeding and he should develop into a good colt.

Steamin' Vo is by Steamin' Demon out of Valiant Vo. He is pacer bred on his dam's side, but he loves to trot and has gone in 2:25. The boys in charge of this colt feel he is chock full of talent.

A stable always interesting to horsemen is the one campaigned by the veteran and ageless Joe Wolf, although he is beyond the age for securing a driving license.

Wolfe has the trotters Joe Pilot and L. C. Van, both by Air Pilot, with identical records of 2:08. He also has Roan Pat (2:05) by his good trotter of several years ago, Little Pat W.

Joe is taking his horses slowly as he usually doesn't start racing until July at Wellston.

Tomy Lee and Omar Khayyam are the only Kentucky Derby winners bred outside of the United States. Tomy Lee won in 1959 and Omar Khayyam in 1917. Both were foaled in England.

Large Crowd Hears Address By Lucas; Spangler Honored

Jerry Lucas, three time basketball All-American at Ohio State was guest speaker at the second annual Logan Elm basketball banquet sponsored by the Logan Elm Booster club. A highlight of the fete was the naming of Chuck Spangler as the team's most valuable player.

Lucas' talk centered around his basketball career from his early days in Middletown when he played in the park throughout his high school and college career. He told of his experiences in the Olympic games and of his tour of Russia last year.

He said his primary purpose in going to Russia was to meet the people of the country rather than to play basketball. The majority of the Russian citizens impressed Lucas as being much like the people of the United States.

A long line of youngsters sought the noted eager's autograph before and after the program.

AWARDS were presented to the varsity and reserve cheerleaders and basketball teams.

Dorothy Hamrick introduced the cheerleaders and made the presentation of awards to the corps members.

Vic Pontius coach of the Logan Elm reserve team, presented awards to the reserve squad.

Keith Merrin, coach of the central district champs and southeastern regional runnersup, introduced his team. Lucas presented varsity awards to the players.

Special recognition was awarded to Dave Horn, Gary Hardman and Danny Hicks along with Spangler. Horn and Hardman were named as the most improved players on the team, and were presented trophies. Hicks was presented a trophy for having the most rebounds during the season.

SPANGLER'S most valuable player trophy award goes to a player, who in the opinion of his teammates, did the most for the team during the year. It is awarded solely on the vote of the team members.

An estimated crowd of more than 400 persons was served at the banquet in less than 30 minutes. Many fans came after the banquet to hear Lucas speak.

Carry Back, winner of the 1961 Kentucky Derby, ran more races as a 2-year-old than any other Derby winner. The colt owned by Mrs. Katherine Price started 21 times as a juvenile.

Houk Unworried

By Maris' Slump

NEW YORK (AP)—If New York Yankee Manager Ralph Houk is worried about Roger Maris' anemic .132 batting average, he's putting up a brave front.

"Rog has been hitting the ball all right," said Houk today before the Yanks scheduled game with the Chicago White Sox. "The only trouble is that everything he hits goes directly at the fielders."

"I'm not worrying about him. He'll hurt someone before long. Maybe seeing the White Sox is just what he needs. He did a lot of hitting against them last year."

Maris has collected just five hits in 38 times at bat, with one home run and three runs batted in.

Plans Taking Shape for Big Horse Show

It's beginning to look like a horse show, according to members of Kiwanis and Pickaway Saddle and Bridle Club who are busy planning the two-day event scheduled for May 26 and 27 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Tom Bennett, Kiwanis general chairman, reported at a meeting of the Saddle and Bridle Club that posters were being distributed and tickets will be ready to go on sale within a few days. With a month to go Mrs. J. E. Groom, show secretary, said prize lists to be mailed throughout the tri-state area are ready.

Allen Ankrom, worked with a group of Saddle and Bridle Club members on Saturday afternoon getting lumber ready for the construction of hurdles which will be used to make 80 stalls for stabling horses during the show.

During the next month Kiwanians will consider a hammer as part of their usual equipment as they spend several work nights at the Fairgrounds building hurdles.

Bennett also reported at the Saddle and Bridle meeting that trophies have now been received for the 26 classes and will be placed on display in the downtown area.

Auto Racing Ace

Still Unconscious

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Stirling Moss, daredevil ace of British auto racing, lay unconscious and seriously injured in this world tennis capital today.

He was under observation for head injuries described as "moderately severe" and doctors said an operation was being considered.

Moss, 32, has survived some 20 crashes during his racing career. He had his latest brush with death before a huge Easter holiday crowd watching a 100-mile international race for Grand Prix cars at the Goodwood Auto Circuit Monday.

Taylor Tapped By Tribe To Face Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cleveland's Ron Taylor has waited almost two weeks to pitch again—after losing a 12-inning heart breaker to Boston April 11.

He gets his shot tonight against the Los Angeles Angels, whose Dean Chance has been waiting even longer to face the Indians again.

Chance, the 20-year-old right-hander from Wooster, Ohio, was treated roughly by Cleveland in his only appearance against the Indians at the end of the 1961 season.

The Indians racked Chance in that game for four runs on six hits in the first inning and sent him to the showers in a game the Angels came on to win, 6-4.

Taylor will try to protect the Indians' slim lead after the American League standings. The rookie right-hander from Toronto hurled 11 scoreless innings against the Red Sox in the second game of the season, then gave up a grand slam homer to Carroll Hardy in the 12th frame.

Tonight's contest is the opener of a three-game set. There's another game Wednesday night and a day game Thursday. The Indians return home Friday night for the start of a four-game series with the Minnesota Twins.

Clay-Machen Bout Pondered by Louis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — They threw a couple of chunks of meat at young Cassius Clay and Eddie Machen, who devoured them with ease and obvious delight.

So today old Joe Louis, in his new role as a boxing matchmaker, want to toss them at each other.

Here was the menu for Louis' initial card of 10-rounders Monday night at the Sports Arena:

Clay, 196½, disposed of trial horse George Logan, 205, in one minute, 34 seconds of the fourth for his 13th straight victory without defeat.

Machen, 194½, consumed Bert Whitehurst, 201, another easily digested morsel, in 2 minutes, 19 seconds of the sixth.

Southeastern Conference basketball teams have appeared in 15 NCAA basketball tournaments and own a 25-13 won-lost record in the annual classic.

Nichols Wins Houston Purse

Nicklaus Is Third In Classic Playoff

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Nichols took a flying leap from 18th to fourth place in the PGA money rankings by winning the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic.

He owes it all to a beautiful, 240-yard shot from the rough he made Monday with a four wood. "It was my best shot of the tournament," said the 26-year-old former Southwest Conference champ from Texas A&M.

It set him up with an eight-foot putt for an eagle on the 19th hole of a scheduled 18-hole playoff to win the Classic's $9,000 first prize.

Nichols defeated Dan Sikes, a 30-year-old unknown from Jacksonville, Fla., and Jack Nicklaus, the 1961 National Amateur champion. Sikes and Nichols tied at 71 on the 18-hole playoff with Nicklaus five strokes behind.

Then came the 19th-hole — the par 5, 558-yard No. 1 on Memorial Park municipal course that Nichols hadn't even been able to birdie in five rounds.

Nichols got into trouble with his tee shot, but it was long trouble. He drove about 318 yards and to the right of the fairway.

He asked his caddy for the No. 4 wood and belted the ball smack onto the green to put the pressure on Sikes.

Sikes, a law grad from the University of Florida, calmly made a birdie.

Nicklaus and Sikes, officially given a second-place tie, won $3,800 each, making it the biggest pay day of the year for all three.

Nichols, a pro since 1959, increased his winnings for the year to $17,874.67 in official money. He had not won a tournament until he finished first at St. Petersburg earlier this year. He picked up enough unofficial money Monday from endorsements to make his eagle worth $14,750.

Stengel Delighted By Mets' Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Casey Stengel, delighted with his New York Mets' first baseball victory, said Monday night, "I'm so excited I'm shaking."

"We sure was on a long nap," the former Yankee manager told newsmen after the Mets clipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-1 for their first league victory after nine straight losses.

"If we win 99 more we'll take this pennant. All I want to know is where have we been. Someone must have given us a pill."

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—In a remarkable hour program, NBC demonstrated Monday night the life-saving miracles performed by surgeons all over the country, mending defective and diseased hearts and circulatory systems.

It was called "Breakthrough," because each of the four delicate operations, shown close-up and in detail, has been developed in recent years—one shown was not possible as recently as two years ago.

First surgery was performed on a Washington woman with a diseased heart valve. The surgeon gave her a new one—made of plastic. In order to make the replacement, a heart-lung machine took over the body's blood-pumping functions while the surgical team stopped the woman's heart action by pouring a slush of iced saline solution into the chest cavity.

The picture moved to Houston, Tex., where another surgical team was removing a plug in the neck artery of a woman threatened by stroke. We watched the surgeon open up the artery, clean out the stoppage and then patch the artery with a piece of dacron.

Third operation showed the attachment of an electric battery, powered by transistors, to the heart of a Minneapolis man. His heart had stopped beating on several previous occasions, and the battery, giving out tiny, regular pulses, was designed to prevent heart failure. The wires were connected to the heart, and then attached to the tiny battery, implanted just below the skin of the abdomen—a spot easily reached in three to five years when new batteries will be needed.

Finally, surgeons stitched up a congenital hole in the heart of a 10-year-old San Francisco boy—a hole which would have been fatal if left unprepared.

Dr. Henry Swan, a heart specialist, discussed each operation as it proceeded with the working surgeon, and in many instances translated the terminology into laymen's terms.

At the end of the program, we saw all the patients, convalescing or completely recovered. The little boy was shown—playing football.

Although the first few minutes were a little hard to take, the program was handled so well and the operations were so fascinating that the hour was a hopeful and— you should pardon the pun—heartening experience.

Recommended tonight: "Dick Powell Show," NBC, 9:10 (EST)—"No Strings Attached," a comedy about a corporation lawyer hired to represent a stripper with Powell and Mamie Van Doren.

NEW YORK (AP)—Atlanta and Jacksonville will get their first taste of Triple A baseball action Wednesday when the International League opens its 79th season.

Atlanta moves into the IL from the defunct Southern Association, replacing Charleston, Jacksonville, formerly in the South Atlantic League, replaces Jersey City.

The IL's 154-game schedule opens with Buffalo at Richmond for a day-night doubleheader and three night games, Rochester at Atlanta, Syracuse at Jacksonville and Toronto at Columbus.

Columbus won the league pennant last year, but Buffalo won the post-season playoffs and swept by Louisville of the American Association in the Junior World Series. Larry Shepard is back as Columbus manager and Kerby Farrell again will manage the Buffalo entry.

Marvin Huffman of Indiana was named the most valuable player of the first NCAA basketball tournament, played in 1940.

World's Fair Has Girls, Too

Little Egypt of 1893 Recalled in Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—What is there about world's fairs that seems to call for exposure of the female form?

What do folks remember about the Chicago Fair of 1893? Little Egypt and her hootchy-kootchy. Who was the star of the 1933 Century of Progress? Sally Rand and her fans.

The Century 21 Exposition was not going to be caught napping. Operators on the glittering show street have come up with new and ingenious ways to present girls in the near-altogether. The customers are lining up for tickets.

Nudity on show street ranges from the ridiculous to the faintly sublime. Best of the shows is Barry Ashton's revue at Gracie Hansen's Paradise. This is a 600-seat theater-fronted by a Sophie Tucker-type hostess whose previous experience was producing PTA shows.

Ashton presents his usual blend of beautiful babes, stunning costumes and well-drilled dances. A special nod toward the fair's outer-space theme is offered by the "Planet Eve" ballet. Two astronauts land on the planet Venus to be greeted by inhabitants clothed merely in rhinestone G-strings. Stirring stuff.

A variation of the familiar theme is offered by "Backstage, USA." This is a gimmick devised by longtime Hollywood dance producer Leroy Prinz, in which showgirls are presented both on stage and off in their native habitat. The off-stage area provides reason for the cuties to be seen changing costumes, taking showers and doing other things that might provide interest for backstage peepers.

Then there are the "Girls of the Galaxy," which reduces the sideshow attraction to the lowest denominator. These are a series of lame tableaux in which a couple of semi-nudes stand in total embarrassment while a more energetic dancer does a routine to an electric organ accompaniment.

All these have met the approval of the special theater supervisory board, appointed by the mayor of Seattle to safeguard morals.

Fresh Batch Of Russian Fallout Coming

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the world's leading authorities on fallout said today radioactive debris from the Soviet Union's atomic test series last fall is expected to be about twice as plentiful this spring and summer as the fallout was following the Soviet tests in the autumn of 1958.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, former member of the Atomic Energy Commission and still a member of AEC's Advisory Committee, told a reporter, "Even though Russia's 1961 series was a 'cleaner' series, relatively speaking, in comparison with the (fall) 1958 series, the fallout still will be twice as big as it was in 1958."

Libby's views were not in conflict with those of the AEC which has said radiation to humans from all nuclear tests since 1945—including the Soviet Union's 1961 bursts—will remain within acceptable health limits.

His figures, however, were the first given by anyone related to the AEC making a direct comparison between the fallout from the 1961 Soviet tests and that from the tests of autumn 1958.

Libby estimated that the peak of the fallout from the 1961 Soviet tests would be reached relatively soon. He indicated this might come in late May or early June, then taper off in the next month or so.

Clinton Covered Bridge Headed for Oblivion

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The 80-year-old wooden covered bridge over Todd's Creek north of Clarksville is due for replacement by a steel truss span. Clinton County commissioners approved an estimate of $45,000 Monday as cost of the project. School officials contended the wooden bridge was a hazard to loaded school buses.

Armco Sued For Moving Pennsy Plant

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Armco Steel Corp. faces a suit for nearly $50 million as a result of the shutdown of the firm's plant in nearby Etna.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court Monday in behalf of 1,210 former employees at Etna. Armco moved the Etna operations to new facilities at its Ambridge plant.

Attorneys Samuel L. Goldstein and Leo Kostman, in filing the suit, said the transfer to Ambridge "was a move to end the labor agreements in force at the Etna plant. These agreements included incentive pay and recognition of a white collar local, neither of which are a part of the agreements in force at the Ambridge plant."

Contending further that Armco deliberately misled the United Steelworkers Union into believing the new mill would employ only 325, the suit said:

"Nearly 1,000 men have been employed at the new mill, some of them former Etna employees coming on as new men with no seniority."

The suit seeks a minimum of $40,000 in compensatory and punitive damages for each of the former Etna workers.

In a statement replying to the suit, Armco said:

"Before closing of the Etna plant, an agreement was reached with a commission of the International (United) Steelworkers Union under which additional jobs resultant from the new facilities were allocated among Ambridge and Etna employees."

PTO Names New Officers

The Stoutsville Parent-Teacher Organization held an election of officers during a recent meeting at the school.

Mrs. Ellen Smith was elected president; Mrs. Paul Stebelton, vice president; Mrs. Richard Rhymer, secretary; Mrs. Herman Kull, treasurer.

Social committee members for May are: Mrs. Barbara Gearhardt, Mrs. Ann Cole and Mrs. Amos Valentine.

The organization purchased a new movie projector for the school and it was announced that wall maps that were ordered had arrived.

Roger Smith, Don Hickman, Ernest Francis and Wayne Beck, school board members, along with Superintendent Smith discussed the bond issue to be voted on next month.

Children were entertained with movies and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

The May meeting will feature an Open House.

4 Delaware Violent Deaths Under Probe

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Authorities worked today to try to piece together a story of violence which left a 37-year-old mother and her three children dead.

The four bodies were found Monday when the husband and father, Wallace D. Cox, returned from a railroad run.

Instead of hearing the yells of happy children, Cox, a railroad engineer, found his wife, Janice, sitting dead in a chair with a bullet wound in her head and a .32 caliber automatic at her feet.

A daughter, Teresa, 8, was found lying on a couch in the living room with a bullet wound in the head.

Upstairs, Cox found his 5-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, on a bed with a plastic bag tied over her head. His 10-year-old son was on the floor. He had been hit on the head several times and a stocking tightly knotted around his neck.

A hammer was near the body. Sheriff Harley Wornstaff said the house was covered with blood and there was evidence that a fierce struggle had occurred between the boy and his mother.

Wornstaff ordered autopsies on all of the victims but said: "It looks as if Mrs. Cox killed the three children and then took her own life."

The house was described as neat and clean.

Neighbors said Cox was very proud of the home and living in the country. The family had moved there from Columbus about two years ago. Mrs. Cox, however, wanted to move back to the city, it was reported.

Castroism Doomed, Says Ohio Senator

WASHINGTON (AP)—The problem of Castroism is something the Organization of American States and the failures of the Castro regime itself will take care of in due time, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, predicts.

He said Russia does not need Cuba as a missile base and the threat of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to this country "is highly exaggerated."

Young continued in a letter to constituents: "It is an exaggeration to claim that Castro's Cuba is a dagger pointed at the heart of the United States—only 90 miles distant."

"Leaders of the Kremlin do not need missile bases in Cuba. They have a capability of striking on target with nuclear missile from Siberia or from their submarines."

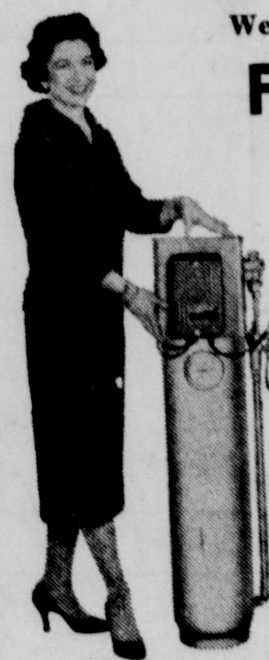

Young also warned that "direct intervention by U.S. forces to topple the Castro regime would support the Soviet claim of Yankee imperialism and would lose us the confidence and friendship we have acquired in South America through the Alliance for Progress."

Ohio Doctors Get Research Career Award

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two doctors at Western Reserve University have been granted research career awards by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The recipients are Dr. Robert M. Berne, acting physiology department head of WRU's School of Medicine, and Dr. John W. Harris of Metropolitan General Hospital.

The university announcement today said their salaries for their entire professional careers will be paid by the National Institutes of Health, subject to review every five years.

The awards are for experienced investigators doing independent research and teaching in the medical sciences. Recipients cannot have any other professional income or take the awards to another institution.

Dr. Berne's research deals with physiological and biochemical aspects of cardiac function. Dr. Harris is an expert on blood.

Striking Auto Workers To Vote on New Pact

CINCINNATI (AP)—Striking United Auto Workers employees of Hess and Eisenhardt Co. in nearby Blue Ash were to vote today on a new contract. The strike, which started Jan. 8, has been one of years.

The walkout began after the 100 auto craftsmen rejected a proposed three-year pact for 13 cents more an hour in pay plus a paid pension plan. Average pay under the old agreement was $2.35 hourly.

Tigers Will Meet Big Walnut Nine

Circleville High School baseball team will meet Big Walnut Tuesday in the first game of the class AA Central District tournament on the diamond at Ted Lewis Park.

Big Walnut has been designated as the home team. Since the school does not have a baseball diamond, it was agreed that the game be played here.

The Tigers opponents have a 4-2 record. Circleville is 5-1.

The winner of the game will play Utica May 3 at Utica.

Kiwanis in Action Keynote Of Fairgrounds Work Session

Kiwanis in action was the keynote of last night's meeting at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The work session resulted in the completion of 45 pen hurdles in preparation for the Kiwanis sponsored Horse Show scheduled May 25-26.

Dinner preparations last night were handled by Otto Guenther, Ralph Starkey, Keith Wagner and Romaine Wilson. Approximately 50 Kiwanians were present for the work detail.

Allen Ankrom was in charge of the sawing crew, assisted by Dan Crabtree, Dr. William Fraas, Ernest Hill, Robert Wellington, Forrest Brown, Judge William Ammer, Robert Swackhammer and Fred Goegelein. Photographers were Norman Kutler and David Hoffman.

ASSEMBLERS were under the direction of Dale Ankrom and Tom Bennett. Lending a hand were nail drivers Carl Benhase, Harold Anderson, Bertus Bennett, Virgil Kress, Thomas Downing, Truman Eberly, Robert Huffer, Frank Marion, Clark Martin, Tom Matesky, Richard Penn, Charles Schieber, Stanley Spring, Winship Story, Dwight Steele, Robert Sweigert, Jack White and David Winks.

Nail clinchers were Ned Dresbach, Charles Hart, H. K. Lanman, Robert Temple, Roscoe Warren, Robert Wilson, Robert McKelvey, Forrest Croman and Joe Bell. Harold Clifton, in charge of lumber stacking, was the only casualty of the evening. A pile of the wood fell on his legs.

Harold Hoffman, president of the local saddle and bridle club, and several members were present to assist with the work.

Hoffman announced that his club will meet Wednesday evening to complete lumber sawing for 45 more hurdles. Kiwanians will conduct another work session starting 6:30 p. m. Thursday to complete the hurdle assembly.

The club's instructor on bent nail removal Jack White. The champion nail driver was Dale Ankrom.

Named the evening's most consistent worker was Ernest Hill, whose Kiwanis affiliation goes back to being a past president and the only active charter member.

An expression of thanks was voted to John Taylor who loaned work benches and a trailer mounted power saw.

President Woodrow Wilson's administration paid Denmark $25 million in gold for the Virgin Islands, as a defense measure in World War I.

World's Fair Has Girls, Too

Little Egypt of 1893
Recalled in Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—What is there about world's fairs that seems to call for exposure of the female form?

What do folks remember about the Chicago Fair of 1893? Little Egypt and her hootchy-kootchy. Who was the star of the 1893 Century of Progress? Sally Rand and her fans.

The Century 21 Exposition was not going to be caught napping. Operators on the glittering show street have come up with new and ingenious ways to present girls in the near-altogether. The customers are lining up for tickets.

Nudity on show street ranges from the ridiculous to the faintly sublime. Best of the shows is Barry Ashton's revue at Gracie Hansen's Paradise. This is a 600-seat theater-dinner-fronted by a Sophie Tucker-type hostess whose previous experience was producing PTA shows.

Ashton presents his usual blend of beautiful babes, stunning costumes and well-drilled dances. A special nod toward the fair's outer-space theme is offered by the "Planet Eve" ballet. Two astronauts land on the planet Venus to be greeted by inhabitants clothed merely in rhinestone G-strings. Stirring stuff.

A variation of the familiar theme is offered by "Backstage, USA." This is a gimmick devised by longtime Hollywood dance producer Leroy Prinz, in which showgirls are presented both on stage and off in their native habitat. The off-stage area provides reason for the cuties to be seen changing costumes, taking showers and doing other things that might provide interest for backstage peepers.

Then there are the "Girls of the Galaxy," which reduces the sideshow attraction to the lowest denominator. These are a series of lame tableaux in which a couple of semi-nudes stand in total embarrassment while a more energetic dancer does a routine to an electric organ accompaniment.

All these have met the approval of the special theater supervisory board, appointed by the mayor of Seattle to safeguard morals.

Fresh Batch Of Russian Fallout Coming

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the world's leading authorities on fallout said today radioactive debris from the Soviet Union's atomic test series last fall is expected to be about twice as plentiful this spring and summer as the fallout was following the Soviet tests in the autumn of 1958.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, former member of the Atomic Energy Commission and still a member of AEC's Advisory Committee, told a reporter, "Even though Russia's 1961 series was a 'cleaner' series, relatively speaking, in comparison with the (fall) 1958 series, the fallout still will be twice as big as it was in 1958."

Libby's views were not in conflict with those of the AEC which has said radiation to humans from all nuclear tests since 1945—including the Soviet Union's 1961 bursts—will remain within acceptable health limits.

His figures, however, were the first given by anyone related to the AEC making a direct comparison between the fallout from the 1961 Soviet tests and that from the tests of autumn 1958.

Libby estimated that the peak of the fallout from the 1961 Soviet tests would be reached relatively soon. He indicated this might come in late May or early June, then taper off in the next month or so.

Clinton Covered Bridge Headed for Oblivion

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The 80-year-old wooden covered bridge over Todd's Creek north of Clarksville is due for replacement by a steel truss span. Clinton County commissioners approved an estimate of $45,000 Monday as cost of the project. School officials contended the wooden bridge was a hazard to loaded school buses.

Armco Sued For Moving Pennsy Plant

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Armco Steel Corp. faces a suit for nearly $50 million as a result of the shutdown of the firm's plant in nearby Etna.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court Monday in behalf of 1,210 former employees at Etna. Armco moved the Etna operations to new facilities at its Ambridge plant.

Attorneys Samuel L. Goldstein and Leo Kostman, in filing the suit, said the transfer to Ambridge "was a move to end the labor agreements in force at the Etna plant. These agreements included incentive pay and recognition of a white collar local, neither of which are a part of the agreements in force at the Ambridge plant."

Contending further that Armco deliberately misled the United Steelworkers Union into believing the new mill would employ only 325, the suit said:

"Nearly 1,000 men have been employed at the new mill, some of them former Etna employees coming on as new men with no seniority."

The suit seeks a minimum of $40,000 in compensatory and punitive damages for each of the former Etna workers.

In a statement replying to the suit, Armco said:

"Before closing of the Etna plant, an agreement was reached with a commission of the International (United) Steelworkers Union under which additional jobs resultant from the new facilities were allocated among Ambridge and Etna employees."

PTO Names New Officers

The Stoutsville Parent - Teacher Organization held an election of officers during a recent meeting at the school.

Mrs. Ellen Smith was elected president; Mrs. Paul Stebelton, vice president; Mrs. Richard Rhymer, secretary; Mrs. Herman Kull, treasurer.

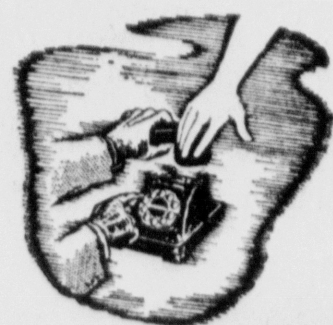

Social committee members for May are: Mrs. Barbara Gearhardt, Mrs. Ann Cole and Mrs. Amos Valentine.

The organization purchased a new movie projector for the school and it was announced that wall maps that were ordered had arrived.

Roger Smith, Don Hickman, Ernest Francis and Wayne Beck, school board members, along with Superintendent Smith discussed the bond issue to be voted on next month.

Children were entertained with movies and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

The May meeting will feature an Open House.

4 Delaware Violent Deaths Under Probe

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Authorities worked today to try to piece together a story of violence which left a 37-year-old mother and her three children dead.

The four bodies were found Monday when the husband and father, Wallace D. Cox, returned from a railroad run.

Instead of hearing the yells of happy children, Cox, a railroad engineer, found his wife, Janice, sitting dead in a chair with a bullet wound in her head and a .32 caliber automatic at her feet.

A daughter, Teresa, 8, was found lying on a couch in the living room with a bullet wound in the head.

Upstairs, Cox found his 5-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, on a bed with a plastic bag tied over her head. His 10-year-old son was on the floor. He had been hit on the head several times and a stocking tightly knotted around his neck. A hammer was near the body.

Sheriff Harley Wornstaff said the house was covered with blood and there was evidence that a fierce struggle had occurred between the boy and his mother. Wornstaff ordered autopsies on all of the victims but said:

"It looks as if Mrs. Cox killed the three children and then took her own life."

The house was described as neat and clean.

Neighbors said Cox was very proud of the home and living in the country. The family had moved there from Columbus about two years ago. Mrs. Cox, however, wanted to move back to the city, it was reported.

Greyhound Bus Firm Told To Pay Ohio Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A common pleas judge here ordered the Greyhound Corp. to pay $17,907 to the state of Ohio in motor vehicle licenses taxes today.

The issue concerned some 56 buses in the merger of the Atlantic Greyhound Corp. and the Greyhound Corp. in September 1959. Clifford Ayers, registrar of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, refused to issue 1960 license plates for the buses until Greyhound paid registration fees for them from the time of the merger.

Greyhound argued that the merger did not constitute a transfer but, in effect, was an integration of the firms.

Ohio law provides that upon the transfer of ownership of a motor vehicle, the registration of the vehicle expires. The judge ruled that assumption of the buses by Greyhound Corp. at the time of the merger involved a transfer of ownership.
